Woodstock May Have Radio Station

Reports Are That RCA Is Planning to Use Overlook Mountain

Radio Corporation of America officials in New York city were not available for comment today on reports that R.C.A. plans to build a super transmitter atop Overlook Mountain near Woodstock.

According to a report received by The Freeman R.C.A. will take over the Newgold property on Overlook Mountain to build facilities for long wave, short wave and television broadcasts.

The new project is said to be part of R.C.A.'s expansion program to provide service for Connecticut, Massachusetts and upper New York state.

Construction engineers, workers and officials would be quartered at the Newgold Hotel while the work was in progress, according to The Freeman source.

Albert Robard, chief of R.C.A.'s Public Relations Department, said he knew of no such plans but that his information would have to come from R.C.A. officials who could not be contacted today.

George Moore, head of R.C.A.'s purchasing department, said he had not been informed of any such proposed purchase of property in this area.

Kenneth Wilson, supervisor of the Town of Woodstock, said he was unaware of any such proposed project on Overlook. He said the Newgold estate which owns the hotel and several acres of land on the mountain top is controlled by Mr. Gabriel, a New Yorker who spends his summers at the hotel.

Condition Is Critical
Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—Cordell Hull's condition continues to be "most critical," the navy reported today. A 9 a. m. bulletin from Bethesda, Md., naval hospital, where the former secretary of state suffered a stroke Monday night. His condition continues to be "most critical."

Knockdown Comes After Victory on Trieste; Reds Are 'Hurt'

Paris, Oct. 3 (AP)—The United States was rebuffed, 7 to 5, by a Peace Conference Commission today in an attempt to slash $100,000,000 from Hungarian reparations to Russia and two other Slav countries, after a Soviet delegate assailed the proposal as an "unfriendly act."

U. S. State Department Representative Willard Thorp, who said he presented the amendment in an attempt to save Hungary's economy from collapse, also sought to cut $100,000,000 from the reparations to be paid by Finland.

The American defeat quickly followed a western nation victory in the long and bitter fight over Trieste in the Italian Political and Territorial Commission.

Only Australia, Canada, New Zealand and South Africa supported the United States move to reduce Hungary's payments to Russia, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia from $300,000,000 to $200,000,000. The Commission adopted the Russian-backed provision under which Russia is to get two-thirds of this total, Yugoslavia, $70,000,000, and Czechoslovakia, $30,000,000.

Britain and France, holding a permanent veto, said they would not support the proposal.

Girl, 18, Is Victim Of Injuries; Hit By Truck Sept. 10

Escaped Inmate of Mental Hospital Dies at Poughkeepsie of Her Injuries

Irene Palicco, 18, an escaped inmate from the Medfield mental institution at Pittsfield, Mass., who was seriously injured when struck by a truck on Route 9-W near the Highland traffic circle about 4:45 a. m. September 10, succumbed to the injuries last night at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Palicco had escaped from the Massachusetts institution on September 7. At the time of the accident the injured girl was accompanied by two soldiers from Green Haven, who were about 15 feet behind her.

According to the state police version, the accident occurred in a heavy fog. Miss Palicco was reported proceeding in a northerly direction on the right of the road in violation of the pedestrian law which requires pedestrians to face traffic.

Miss Palicco was struck by a Diamond T tractor and trailer owned by Carroll Paul, of Madison, N. Y., and operated by Jack Edward Paul, 27, son of the owner. Paul told troopers he was unable to see the girl who was walking northerly with traffic on the concrete strip. He said he did not see her until too late to avoid striking her. No arrest was made. Taken to Vassar Hospital, Miss Palicco died last night.

Three Can Leave Zone; Immune

Schacht, Papen, Fritzsche Must Get Out of U.S.-Held Area, Is Officers Report

May Halt Trials

Industrialists' Trials Uncertain as Result of Acquittal

Nuernberg, Oct. 3 (AP)—German Leader Anton Pfeiffer said today United States occupation authorities have granted the three men acquitted by the International Military Tribunal permission to leave the U. S. zone, protected from arrest by German denazification courts.

The three are financier Hjalmar Schacht, Diplomat Franz von Papen and propagandist Hans Fritzsche.

Pfeiffer, chief denazification officer for Bavaria, said he had been instructed that the three are to be guaranteed "safe conduct" but must leave the zone.

This protection from any prosecution by German courts is only temporary and covers their departure from Nuernberg jail and the zone, he asserted.

Pfeiffer said he got his instructions from Brig. Gen. Walter Muller, U. S. military governor of Bavaria, who in turn got them from Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor in Berlin.

The Bavarian indicated that the instructions are being handed down to the Nuernberg German police, who already had been armed with orders to arrest all three as soon as they left jail and bring them before the denazification court.

German Chief of Police Wilhelm Stahl, waiting in the military police office, had not yet been informed of the new development.

Steelmen Fears Serious Results Of Sudden Wage, Price Boosts

National Economy, He Says, Is in Position of Great Promise, Great Danger; Fears Depression-Bringing Spiral

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—Reconversion Director John R. Steelman said today a "further rapid price rise" might stifle demand for goods and "precipitate an early and severe price collapse, with serious economic and social consequences."

Steelman also spoke out bluntly against a general round of "large" wage increases at this time.

He said these could benefit "only special groups," and in general would do so "at the expense of fellow workers throughout the nation."

Declaring that the national economy is simultaneously "in a position of great promise and of great danger," Steelman set forth "two great problems" which he said America faces:

For the long range, to "maintain our economy at full production and full employment."

In the meantime, to "prevent runaway inflation."

"If prices keep on rising and precipitate a wage-price spiral, business and agriculture will find themselves priced out of the market and into a depression," Steelman asserted in his quarterly report to President Truman and Congress.

He added that if on the other hand "we can successfully retard the rise in prices, the backlog of demand for goods and the tremendous pools of savings and current income should reduce the rate at which demand slackens."

Such a course, he added, "can only lead to price collapse."

His report said also: "Production of consumer durable goods, such as automobiles, refrigerators, and radios, is being held back by the lack of funds to buy them."

McAlister's Trial Is Put Over Until February Term

Attorney Tells Court His Cases Prevent Any Action Now; Is Agreed Upon

Tech. Sgt. James M. McAlister, 24, of 73 Brewster street was arraigned in County court this morning before County Judge John M. Cashin to answer to a first degree murder charge which a grand jury had reported to the court.

McAlister, a soldier stationed at West Point, was charged with the fatal stabbing of Fred Warden, 23, on the early morning of September 28, as Warden sat in his car in front of the Brewster street home. Warden had driven Mrs. McAlister to her home a few moments before after McAlister had met them at the corner of Broadway and Brewster street where he had waited for them when he found his wife was not at home when he previously stopped at the house.

Police charge that during the time which elapsed between the discovery that Mrs. McAlister was absent and the time he observed his wife in the Warden car, he had gone to a nearby drug store and purchased the knife with which Warden was stabbed at least 10 times with the three inch blade.

Chris J. Flanagan appeared for McAlister and a plea of innocent was entered. Mr. Flanagan asked for additional time to make further motions and also for a copy of the indictment bill.

Asks Trial in February
In view of the seriousness of the charge Mr. Flanagan asked that trial of the case go over until the February term of County court. He said he was busy with other criminal matters now which would come up in November at an adjourned date of the present term and said he wanted time to prepare for trial.

Judge Cashin stated that the charge was a serious one and called attention to the fact that the defendant would have to remain in jail until tried.

Mr. Flanagan stated there was no objection to this and District Attorney Lewis G. Bruhn said he had no objection to the postponement sought.

Judge Cashin then put the matter over until the February trial term and directed that the case be then placed at the head of the criminal calendar for trial.

Defendant was remanded to the custody of Sheriff Smith.

Chief of Police Ross, following an investigation of the murder, said the case appeared to be "another case of the eternal triangle" and said the matter ap-

Coast Guard Doubts Any Are Living

If All Are Killed, It Will Rate as Worst Tragedy in Aviation History

No Sign of Life

French Pilot Reports He Circled Wreck, Saw None Alive

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—An American Overseas Airlines plane plunged in flames into a western Newfoundland hill early today and first reports indicated all 39 persons aboard were dead.

Six of the passengers were children. Twelve were women.

If all those aboard are dead it will be the worst tragedy in the history of commercial aviation.

An Air France transport captain who flew over the wreckage two hours after the crash said on arrival at New York that the plane burned completely and there was no sign of life nearby.

Reports to the Coast Guard also said the plane burned and the possibility of any survivors was very remote.

Aboard the giant airliner were 31 passengers and a crew of eight. Many of the women were housewives en route to Europe to join their husbands. The children's ages ranged from three months to eleven years.

The four engine DC-4 Skymaster was en route from New York to Berlin and plunged into the side of a rocky hill 10 minutes after it left Stephenville, Nfld., at 3:24 a. m. (E.S.T.). It left New York yesterday at 10:55 a. m.

Was at Stephenville
The Air France captain, Jacques Charnoz, said he was at Harmon Field, Stephenville, Nfld., 10 miles from the scene of the crash, when it occurred.

"I could see the glow of the explosion before I took off," he said. "After the takeoff, we circled the wreck. The plane hit the side of a hill quite high up and was still smoking."

"The light was poor and I could not identify any part of the plane. I saw a burnt spot on the hillside. It is a fairly wooded hill. I could see no path cut through the trees. The plane probably went straight into the hill."

Earlier reports to the Coast Guard indicated the plane hit one-half mile up the side of the hill and 100 feet from the top of the slope which was covered with rocks and scrub trees.

Capl. Charnoz said the 42 persons in his plane, 12 of them women, caught a glimpse of the wreckage.

Another description of the wreckage was given by Robert Albee of Forest Hills, N. Y., navigator on the French plane.

"Our plane circled the wreck at 1,500 feet," Albee related. "I could not see the actual fire, but the whole plane was smouldering. The fire had died down quite a bit, but there still was a glow."

The navigator said the plane was landing four to five miles from the wreckage.

Earlier, the Coast Guard said it was raining in the area, and that the PBV's probably would have to come down en route.

The Coast Guard reported that the possibility of survivors was very remote.

The four-engine DC-4, en route from New York to Berlin, crashed 10 minutes after it left Stephenville, Nfld., at 3:24 a. m. (E.S.T.).

The Coast Guard, in a radio message sent at 9:48 a. m. (E.S.T.), said three persons believed to be Newfoundland civilians, were at the scene and an army searching party was at the foot of the hill into which the plane crashed.

The message said the searching party had one-half mile to go. The plane crashed 100 feet from the top of the hill, which is covered with rocks and scrub trees.

The message, sent from a Coast Guard plane at the scene, said the airliner appeared to have exploded after the crash and that only a tiny fragment of the ship was

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Hungry Calf

Russellville, Ark., Oct. 3 (AP)—The value of farmer Elmer Henderson's calf took a sudden $80 rise—too sudden for its own good. Henderson put his wallet containing $80 on a bush when he started to mow a meadow. When he returned, the wallet was gone. A friend suggested the possible culprit. Henderson killed the calf and found his $80, only slightly chewed.

Quick Trip Necessary

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 3 (AP)—William L. O'Brien, Jr., of Evansville, Ind., a student at Purdue University, answered the telephone sleepily at 6 a. m., listened then sprang into action.

Evansville was 200 miles away. Bus and train connections were not good enough and time was an important element. Quickly he leaped a sign and rushed to the highway. The sign said: "Help me beat the stork."

He did, by 70 minutes. It was a girl.

Bring Your Own

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 3 (AP)—Harold Hall, a Clarence, Mo., veteran, thought he had solved his housing problem by bringing his own house to the University of Missouri.

It was simple enough to place the 12 x 20 foot structure on a semi-trailer. But hooking up the utility pipes was another matter. There wasn't a plumber available. And Hall had to drive back 70 miles to Clarice to find one.

Nick of Time

Vancouver, Oct. 3 (AP)—A diaper crisis temporarily delayed sailing yesterday of the S.S. Marine Falcon, carrying 500 volunteer Japanese repatriates to their homeland.

All other luggage had been piled on top of the vital infant equipment in the hold.

It would have taken a day to find them and restore the luggage—and neither the ship, nor the 15 babies aboard, could wait.

A wholesaler solved the problem by providing six bolts of cotton as a temporary substitute.

Inside Job

Salt Lake City, Oct. 3 (AP)—The U. S. Employment Office adopted a new line of persuasion in urging women to take part-time clerk jobs in labor-short Salt Lake City.

It advised that clerking was the best way to get first hand information on what merchandise is available.

Union Center

Union Center, Oct. 2—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren visited Miss Sylvia Embree at Walden, Sunday afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the chapel Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Gigantic Altar for World Peace Rally

The New York Holy Name Society which will conduct a Rally for World Peace in the Polo Grounds on next Sunday, October 6, have now placed under construction one of the largest altars in the world. The altar and its canopy will be built on a platform in the shape of a cross which will be about 58 feet from front to back and 36 feet wide.

The central portion of this platform will be about 3 feet above the level of the field and will accommodate the Cardinal's throne upon a raised dais upon one side with the seats for the Bishops and other Church dignitaries opposite. A circular canopy supported by five columns will be erected over the altar and located on another higher platform at the rear. This structure will be about 25 feet above the general platform level. It will be draped with garlands of laurel leaves and will be flanked on either side with masses of low planting. The center rear column will support a large crucifix but no other background will be provided so that everyone will be able to see every part of the ceremony. To still further insure excellent visibility, the platform will be placed well forward in center field. A dark red carpet will lead from the lowest level up to the foot of the altar. The platform in the form of a cross will be accented by another length of dark red carpet running cross ways on the central platform.

MT. MARION

Mt. Marion, Oct. 3—The Rev. and Mrs. George Gosselink and sons, James and Charles, of Busrah, Iraq, visited the Rev. and Mrs. Oscar Jelsma on Sunday. On Monday they will sail from New York to return to their foreign mission field.

Every well informed housewife knows that Grapefruit Juice is one of the richest natural sources of Vitamin C. Canned Grapefruit Juice retains 97 per cent of the Vitamin C found in the fresh juice, according to the findings of experts in a recent test by the United States Department of Agriculture. Canned Grapefruit Juice is as plentiful, economical, convenient and can be used as a "round the clock" same treat from breakfast greetings to night caps.

Breakfast Greetings
To begin breakfast in refreshing and nourishing style—canned Grapefruit Juice, ready to serve with no more effort than pouring from can to glass.

Frozen Salad
One automatic refrigerator plus a No. 2 can of Grapefruit Juice can set up a salad in a second. 1. Place the can in the coldest section of the freezer compartment with the cold control button in the position needed to freeze ice cubes and 8 to 10 hours. 2. Shake the can gently before you open it. If still is silent, the Grapefruit Juice is frozen solid and ready to serve. Remove both ends of the can and surface of the cylinder with a sharp knife. 3. Have Salad means arranged on individual plates before removing the can of Grapefruit Juice from the refrigerator. Place a generous size of the frozen juice on each plate, garnish with mayonnaise and serve immediately.

Nature's Nightcap
2 1/2 cups canned Grapefruit Juice 4 tblsp. honey 1 1/2 cups water 1 tsp. vanilla. Combine canned Grapefruit Juice, water and honey; heat slowly. Sprinkle with vanilla and serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

This year, the club is splitting up into several committees. The record committee is organized for the purpose of writing a constitution and keeping all pictures and other records in a well planned scrapbook. The art committee will plan exhibits for the library and see that there are pictures on the bulletin board to advertise various books.

The typing of the catalogue cards and other materials is to be done by the typing committee. The Library Club meets every other Thursday in the library during second lunch period. Each member will devote one period a week to library work.

M.J.M. Marshals Elected.

The M.J.M. marshals, under the guidance of Mr. Brown have been elected. They are: Captain Richard Chatnana, Geoffrey Fletcher, Doug Meyer, Walter Foster, Bernard Lupo, Rudolf Kraus, George Carpausis, Clifford Cooper, Richard Priest and Bernard Lynch.

The M.J.M. Dame Rumor staff is: Editor, Doris Parslow; business manager, Ralph Steward.

Tri-Hi Elects

Tri-Hi completed the election of its junior officers recently. Marie Aiello is the new vice president and Pat Burns is the recording secretary. Before the close of school the senior officers were elected. They are Betty Bryant, president; Norma Jackson, corresponding secretary and Frances Jackson, treasurer.

Tri-Hi is now the branch of Y-Teens. This name is now used instead of Girl Reserves.

At the last meeting plans were discussed. A hay ride and square dance have been planned.

Dame Rumor for Service Folk

Dame Rumor is sending free copies of the paper to K.H.S.'ers who are now in the service. Dame Rumor requests that anyone having the addresses of any Kingston High School alumni in service to turn them in to Miss Smith in Room 111. Any boys leaving for service during this school year are reminded to send their addresses to Dame Rumor, so that they will receive subscriptions without cost.

Activity Program for M.J.M.

The Myron J. Michael School is forming a new activity program. Eighth period is now devoted exclusively to one or more activities under the sponsorship of certain teachers. Every pupil must participate in one activity. A student is not allowed to participate in more than two.

The advantages of this program are that it prepares future students of Kingston High School for the activities there.

New things to do will be added when needed and others eliminated when no longer desired.

Some of the activities now in progress are: Leaders Club, Tumbling Club, Camera Club, Thrift Club, Junior Red Cross, Dramatics Club, Games Club, Chorus, Band.

Assemblies Planned

Excellent assemblies have been held this year and the standard will continue in the high school. So far this year the students of the A and B assemblies have enjoyed a wide variety of entertainment. The Student Council, Home-Com, Prisma and Board of Education are combining their efforts to bring better programs to the students.

This year both assemblies will be able to enjoy the feature. The schedule for the future assemblies are as follows: On Friday, October 4 there will be a

Dewey Will Open Campaign Tonight At Albany Rally

Governor Will Be Heard Tonight: He, Ives Attack Gerald Smith

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey will open his re-election campaign formally tonight with a declaration that the people must choose between what his chief aide calls "good, orderly government" or "the A.L.P. Democrat government of incompetence, confusion and chaos."

Dewey and the other members of the Republican state ticket will speak at a rally sponsored by the Albany County Republican Committee. The governor's speech and that of Irving M. Ives, U. S. senatorial candidate, will be broadcast.

Paul E. Lockwood, Dewey's secretary, said in a statement that the governor "will present to the voters of the state his basic philosophy that government is the servant, not the master of the people."

"The governor," Lockwood added, "will place before the people the simple choice which they must make: Whether they wish to continue good, orderly government in our state or substitute for it the A.L.P. Democrat government of incompetence, confusion and chaos."

Dewey and Irving M. Ives, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, joined last night in a blistering denunciation of Gerald L. S. Smith for what they said was an attempt by the America First leader "to inject himself into the New York campaign through an attack on our opponents and a back-handed endorsement of the Republican ticket."

"Disreputable Demagogue" In a joint statement, Dewey and Ives termed Smith a "disreputable demagogue" and declared: "We regard this person as beneath contempt and his attack on our opponents (U. S. Senator James M. Mead and former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman) as an act which we denounce as wholly un-American."

Dewey and Ives said that "Smith and his kind live on hate." They branded the Smith group as "the natural allies" of Democratic Senator Bilbo of Mississippi and the Ku Klux Klan.

Smith's alleged injection into the New York campaign was made "from some place in the west," Dewey and Ives said. They did not elaborate.

The governor is expected to concentrate his campaign next week in New York city.

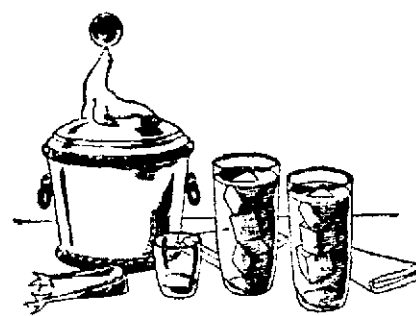

Meteors May Be Seen Next Wednesday Night

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—Chances are "excellent" that a spectacular shower of meteors will be visible next Wednesday night, Dr. Fred Whipple, Harvard University astronomer, says.

Dr. Whipple, in a General Electric Company science forum broadcast (WGY), said last night that the "shooting star" display in the northern sky would be in connection with the appearance of the Giacobini-Zinner comet.

The meteor shower should reach its peak about 10:30 p. m. (E.S.T.), he said.

The comet, which last appeared in 1933, will approach within 131,000 miles of the earth, or about half the distance to the moon, the astronomer explained.

U.S.O. DRIVE HERE

Four years ago the leaders of the nation founded the United Service Organization as an agency to serve the members of our armed forces. The U.S.O. appealed to the citizens of the United States for support, financially and as volunteer workers and the result was that this organization was able to carry out its pledge to give your boys and girls "a home away from home."

The same leaders, who founded the U.S.O., have requested that it be continued for another year. Over 1,500,000 men are still in service. Thousands of young men from every community in the land are going into the service every month. Hospitals are filled with wounded victims. The U.S.O. has not finished the job. Therefore, there is a U.S.O. campaign underway in every community. Ulster county's quota is $12,000.

Ulster county veterans know the U.S.O. record of service and they are endorsing the drive and working for its success. They feel that the American people cannot afford to let the G.I. still in service, the nineteen-year-old just going in, or the wounded veteran become "forgotten men."

These veterans know how important it is to maintain military morale and they know our boys need U.S.O. today more than ever. Member agencies of the U.S.O. are the Young Men's Christian Association, National Catholic Community Service, National Jewish Welfare Board, Young Women's Christian Associations, The Salvation Army and the National Travelers Aid Association.

Headquarters for the Ulster county drive is at the Y.M.C.A. building in Kingston.

Another interesting speculation is how much pop corn it takes to keep this nation operating.

The nation needs more rousing for housing.

POVERTY AND CRIME

It has been said that poverty breeds crime and spells destruction of virtue, but that theory seems to be controverted by the present facts of life. In the United States, we are at an all-time high in peacetime employment and still we have crime and delinquency at record high points and the number of divorces granted also at the highest mark.

J. Edgar Hoover said recently that law enforcement agencies throughout the country have reported that during the first half of this year the number of crimes jumped 13 per cent over the figures of the year previous.

This is the biggest rate of increase of crime in the United States since 1930 when national figures on the extent of crime were first published. At the same time the Federal Security Agency announces that last year the unprecedented number of divorces resulted in thirty-one family breakups for every hundred marriages.

It would seem from these records that something other than poverty is to blame.

They dug up a frog in New Mexico that had survived two million years, but promptly died because he didn't like the local weather.

INFLATION FOR PENSIONS

A New Jersey couple, 79 and 83 years of age respectively, emphasize what rising living costs do to fixed low-income groups, particularly the aged. In 1940 they received $38.50 monthly through old-age security benefits. Added to their meager life savings this amount guaranteed security. Now it cannot be stretched to cover even their modest needs.

A good deal of attention is directed to the plight of young people in these days of rising costs, high rents and sale prices of homes, and expensive clothing for families of small children. But the pensioned old folks are pretty much overlooked. For them soaring prices are even more tragic.

After having all business life tied up by the teamsters' strike, New Yorkers will

HOW TO WRITE A BOOK

David George Plotkin, lawyer, poet, writer on a WPA project, has had his ups and downs. Born on Henry Street, New York, his first book was not naturally called "Ghetto Gutters." Another book, published in 1942, was entitled "Rage in Singapore," and appeared under the name of Kin. The publisher of this was Samuel Roth, under the trade name of Wisdom House. Samuel Roth is a notorious character, imprisoned several times for publishing pornographic literature. This is Plotkin's own statement of his meeting with Roth made during his testimony at Helena, Mont., before a Special Senatorial Committee to Investigate Campaign Expenditures:

"I never had met him until he came to me and asked me whether I wouldn't do a book or two for him, but at the time he came to me I was in a very peculiar situation. I had just been separated from my wife and I was going under what you might call a nervous breakdown. My mother was dying at the time. Being very emotional and very poetic minded and having been so much in love with my wife and mother, I was in a very nervous state."

So, Plotkin agreed to write a book, "Rage in Singapore," for Roth. But Plotkin had never been to Singapore. He was actually in Woodstock, N.Y. This is what Plotkin agreed to do:

"... so that I said, I will tell you what I will do—project my imagination out into the Far East and start writing an allegory about me and my wife and start writing this novel about the Far East, write it in the first person, as some authors had done, and in that way try to get some sort of mental and spiritual peace, so he said that was fine. I just went ahead and used the New York Public Library for background material, and I had always been interested in various cultures, and especially the psychological side of people, so I wrote that book."

The blurb of this book said: "David George Kin, an American scholar, was at Penang with his wife when the Japs captured the island. Their escape was something of a miracle in itself for the British authorities made no provision for the evacuation of the Americans."

Well, Plotkin sat in Woodstock, N. Y., going through the psychology of being in Singapore, because his wife had left him and his mother was dying—and Roth paid him $150 a week to write the book—$260,000 was the total. And wonder of wonders, he finished it just as Singapore fell. So Roth did not dare publish it too quickly. He held it up for three weeks.

Then Plotkin was out of work and worried. So he read the Saturday Review of Literature and came across this advertisement:

"IS THERE a capable, experienced writer who because of too frequent contact with John Barleycorn, or other reasons, would welcome chance to rehabilitate himself in new surroundings in Montana? Offer such character two-months writing job, full maintenance at good hotel, with fine meals and $100.00 per month. Maybe transportation. Box 360, L."

Plotkin replied. He got that job from John H. Kennedy. He went to Missoula, Mont. Kennedy did not know him from a Chinese, so he signed Kin to the telegram. So Kennedy asked him to write a book on Senator Wheeler, whom Plotkin only knew because he read about him in New York newspapers and magazines. He had never met Senator Wheeler personally. So Kennedy gave him "... files on Wheeler, newspaper articles and books, magazines, and whatnot, and he said he had been accumulating all this material for years on Wheeler." Kin lived in the Palace Hotel in Missoula; ate off the cuff; but was not paid for his work because, he testified, Kennedy was short of cash.

How Kennedy financed the book Plotkin wrote, entitled "Plot Against America," is another story which I shall soon tell. The book is unbelievably filthy by any standards. According to the evidence, David George Plotkin, to whom the job of getting it out was entrusted, was rejected by the United States Army on August 7, 1942, at Fort Jay, New York. Lieutenant A. S. Knudsen, who examined him, reported that Plotkin was suffering from "acute manic depressive psychosis, paranoid trend." Of such stuff is public opinion made.

NEW DRUG FOR TUBERCULOSIS

When we see what the sulfa drugs have done in cutting down the death rate in the usual type of pneumonia by nearly 75 per cent, of penicillin which is saving hundreds of lives in patients suffering with virus type of pneumonia and with the formerly fatal heart disease, bacterial endocarditis, it is only to be expected that those suffering with tuberculosis should be expecting similar results from the new drugs now being tried, the latest being streptomycin which has definitely helped some cases. These patients remember that the fight against diabetes and pernicious anemia, both fatal diseases until recently, has now been won.

Is streptomycin going to control tuberculosis as these other diseases have been controlled?

A warning to tuberculosis patients and their families against expecting streptomycin to be the "miracle drug" for tuberculosis as penicillin is for pneumonia, was issued several weeks ago by Dr. Ezra Bridge, Rochester, N. Y., president of the American Trudeau Society at the annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis Association. The Trudeau Society is the medical section of the association.

"Present knowledge of the effectiveness of streptomycin is incomplete and far more research is necessary before any conclusions can be reached."

Because this drug is still in the experimental stage Dr. Bridge emphasized the fact that patients must not give up, or delay using proved methods of treatment prescribed by their physicians in the hope of finding a "miracle cure" in streptomycin. Dr. Bridge pointed out that throughout the entire country research work on effects of streptomycin in tuberculosis is being carried on, and the results of this work will be reported in scientific journals.

At the Mayo Clinic, Drs. H. Corwin Hinshaw and William H. Feldman, whose research work I have mentioned before, are doing special research work on streptomycin in tuberculosis. At present the cost of the drug is $25 to $30 a day per patient. The thought, then, is that tuberculosis patients should carry on with their present proved treatment even if it is slow keeping in mind that "an unrelenting effort is being made to determine the true value of streptomycin (and other drugs) in the treatment of tuberculosis."

Dried Bouquets for Winter Decoration

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

JACK FROST will soon ring down the curtain on garden-fresh flowers for floral displays indoors, but to take their place are the many and varied bouquets and arrangements which can be made from dried materials. Grasses of all kinds, grains and various seed pods are suitable material.

The hardy perennial cattails, found in marshes and swamps, are useful when placed as accents in dried arrangements, especially when height is an essential. The brownish spike, illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, can be given a thin coat of dull lacquer to prevent the "fuzz" from fraying and spinning its stuff.

The long spears of seed-laden dock, illustrated, also make attractive material for dried bouquets. For use as dried material, it is best to cut the tall stalks of the dock while it is still brown and green and red. Dock will be found

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

An organization meeting of Kingston's first Board of Education, operating under the bill that consolidated all five school districts of the city, was held on April 15, 1902, when DuBois G. Atkins was elected to serve as the board's first president.

The board also elected Judge Walter N. Gill to serve as vice president.

The members of the first education board under the consolidated school system were Bernard Loughran, W. Scott Gillespie, Conrad Hillebrand, Isaac N. Weiner, Henry C. Connelly, Henry R. Brigham, Walter C. Dolson, DuBois G. Atkins and Walter N. Gill.

The first meeting of the board following the organization meeting was held on April 23, of that year, when S. R. Shear of White Plains was elected to serve as the first superintendent of school in the city.

Turning from educational affairs to men's clothing I read an advertisement of Morris Hymes on April 12, 1902, announcing the opening of his new clothing store in the Mansion House building at Broadway and Strand.

Mr. Hymes was advertising men's suits ranging in price from as low as $2.98 to a high of $10, and he guaranteed that the suits would wear well.

Another new store that opened on March 29, 1902, was Joseph Block's store in the Cordis building at Hasbrouck avenue and the Strand. The new store was known as Block's Bazaar, and all three floors were used by Mr. Block.

Older readers will recall both Block's Bazaar as well as the Hymes store downtown.

In the early years of the 1900's one of the most active church organizations of the city was the Brotherhood of the Holy Trinity and Philip of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

On April 18, 1902, the organization held its annual banquet in the chapel of the church. Among the speakers of the evening were Charles M. Preston, James G. Van Keuren, Irving W. Scott, Abel C. Crosby, Prof. John E. Shull of Old Ulster Academy, and the Rev. Charles G. Ellis, who had become pastor of the church that year.

George M. Brown died in his home on Albany avenue on April 7, 1902, aged 80 years. For a number of years he had been employed by the old Delaware & Hudson Canal Co., retiring on a pension in 1892.

Mr. Brown from a boy had been interested in astronomy, and in 1881 he erected an observatory at his Albany avenue home. He installed a telescope with an 8-inch lens, which was equipped with every modern device.

For years Mr. Brown was an active member of the old First Dutch Reformed Church. Fraternally he was a member of Kingston Lodge of Masons.

Hoover's Speech Before American Legion Is Believed Compounded of 'Inside Stuff', Hence Important

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 3.—J. Edgar Hoover, as head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, knows what's going on in America—he has information from his thousands of agents and from other sources. So when he makes a speech to the American Legion declaring that America faces a "formidable foe" inside the United States in Communism, his words attract attention. What Mr. Hoover said is so important that his words are reproduced here exactly:

"During the past five years, American Communists have made their deepest inroads upon our national life. In our vaunted tolerance for all peoples the Communist has found our 'Achilles' heel.' The American Legion represents a force which holds within its power the ability to expose the hypocrisy and ruthlessness of this foreign 'ism' which has crept into our national life—an 'ism' built and supported by dishonesty, deceit, tyranny and deliberate policy of falsehood."

"It is a matter of self-preservation. The veterans who fought for America will be among the first to suffer if the Communists succeed in carrying out their diabolical plots to wreck the American way of life. The 'divide and conquer' tactics did not die with Hitler—they are being employed with greater skill today by American Communists with their 'boring from within' strategy. Their propaganda, skillfully designed and adroitly executed, has been projected into practically every phase of our national life. The fact that the Communist Party in 100,000 members has lulled many Americans into a feeling of false complacency. I would not be concerned if we were dealing with only 100,000 Communists. The Communists themselves boast that for every party member there are ten others ready to do the party's work. These include their satellites, their fellow-travelers and their so-called progressives and phony liberal allies. They have maneuvered themselves into positions where a few Communists control the destinies of hundreds who are either willing to be led or have been duped into obeying the dictates of others."

"The average American working man is loyal, patriotic and law-abiding. He wants security for his family and himself. But in some unions the rank and file find themselves between a Communist minority, manipulated by a few leaders who have hoodwinked and browbeaten them into a state of submission. Communist labor leaders have spared no time in their labor deliberations to refer matters of policy to Communist party headquarters for clearance. In fact, resolutions have been decided pending such approval and contemplated strikes have been postponed until adequate Communist support and backing were available.

"The Communist influence has projected itself into some newspapers, magazines, books, radio and the screen. Some churches, schools, colleges and even fraternal orders have been penetrated, not with the approval of the rank and file but in spite of them. I have been pleased to observe that the Communist attempts to penetrate the American Legion have met with failure. Eternal vigilance will continue to keep your ranks free of shift, double-crossing Communist destructionists."

"We are rapidly reaching the time when loyal Americans must be willing to stand up and be counted. The American Communist Party, despite its claims, is not truly a political party. The Communist party in this country is not working for the general welfare of all our people—it is working against our people. It is not interested in providing for the common defense. It has for its purpose the shackling of America and its conversion to the Godless, Communist way of life. If it were a political party its adherents could be appealed to by reason. Instead, it is a system of intrigue, actuated by fanaticism. It knows no rules of decency. Its unprincipled converts would sell America short if it would help their cause of furthering an alien way of life conceived in darkness and motivated by greed for power whose ultimate aim is the destruction of our cherished freedom. Let us no longer be misled by their sly propaganda and false preachments on civil liberty. They want civil license to do as they please and, if they get control, liberty for Americans will be but a haunted memory. For those who seek to provoke prejudice and stir up the public mind to angry resentment against our form of government are a menace to the very powers of law and order which guarantee and safeguard popular rights."

"We, of this generation, have faced two great menaces to America—Fascism and Communism. Both are materialistic; both are totalitarian; both are anti-religious; both are degrading and inhuman. In fact, they differ little except in name. Communism has bred Fascism and Fascism spawns Communism. Both are the antithesis of American belief in liberty and freedom. If the peoples of other countries want Communism, let them have it, but it has no place in America."

"The Hitler, Tojo and Mussolini brand of Fascism were defeated and defeated on the battlefield. All those who stand for the American way of life must arise and defeat Red Fascism in America by focusing upon it the spotlight of public opinion and by building up barriers of common decency through which it cannot penetrate."

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By IGOR B. MASLOWSKI
(For Hal Boyle)

Paris.—(P)—The prefecture of police blames the peace conference for a minor crime wave currently sweeping Paris. The number of holdups and other infractions of the law have doubled in the number reported monthly since April.

A spokesman for the prefecture explained that more than 10 per cent of the 15,000 men and 900 inspectors of the Paris police force had been assigned to provisional duties in connection with the peace conference, such as looking after the security delegates, regulating traffic in the neighborhood of Luxembourg palace and other tasks.

Lining the streets of Paris in their navy blue uniforms, adorned with bright red fourragers, the Paris gendarmes maintain a clear right of way for the hundreds of sedans carrying delegates, reporters and others related to the peace talks to and from the conference sessions.

Paris newspapers have been carrying numerous stories about the "bumpings on the streets," which they claim have risen on an unprecedented scale. The prefecture, however, said the August report of 80 serious crimes was only half of that reached in the peak month of December 1945 when black marketeers and "carpet baggers" of various types were flourishing in Paris as an aftermath of the war.

Official figures released by the police showed 167 outrages in December, 156 in January, 109 in February, 78 in March, 46 in April, 33 in May, the low month, 48 in June, 62 in July and 80 in August.

Moving Picture Operators Get 10 Per Cent Raise

Local 637, Motion Picture Operators, has signed contracts with local theatres, following recent negotiations, favoring them with a 10 per cent raise and a week's vacation with pay.

The four theatres signed are: Read's two in Kingston, the Orpheum in this city and Community Theatre of Hudson.

Read's contract for its Broadway and Kingston theatres runs for three years, and agreements with the other picture houses for two.

Representing the Read interests at negotiations were Edwin Gage, general manager, and Robert Case, local manager.

Officers of 637 acted for the motion picture operators, Frank Hopper, president; Kenneth Every, secretary; and Michael Ross, business agent.

Measures Approved

Paris, Oct. 3 (AP)—The French Constituent Assembly, in an all-night session, approved measures today providing the death penalty for forging or stealing food coupons, cornering foodstuffs or collusion to sell food above legal prices. Food Minister Yves Farge requested passage of the bills to tighten up food controls.

Hog, Cattle Act Enters 2nd Month

Overlooked Point Is Beef Sells for Higher Price Than in Summer

By WILLIAM FERRIS

Chicago, Oct. 3 (AP)—The great disappearing hog and cattle act, a colossal presentation now featured at all livestock markets, rolled into its second breath-taking month today before a nationwide audience watching with baffled eyes and meatless digestive tracts.

It was on September 3, the day after Labor Day, that the curtain went up on this unparalleled spectacle of the magician's art—to show livestock pens, jammed the week before, empty except for a few dried-up cows and emaciated pigs.

Since then the act has been repeated daily to an utterly unappreciative clientele, and agricultural department statistics for September showed receipts at record lows.

A minor feature of the performance, somewhat overlooked in the concentration on the all-star shortage, is the fact that beef cows today, in a market controlled by price ceilings, are selling at higher prices than they were in the free markets of July and August.

L. M. Wyatt, head of the local livestock branch of the Agriculture Department, said good cows brought $14.50-$15.00 late last August and $15.25-$17.25 now, while medium grades had advanced from $11.75-$14.00 to $12.50-$15.25. Beef cows are a major part of the present small arrivals.

Profits Are Incidental

How anyone could buy livestock at higher prices, and sell meat at lower prices, and still make a profit, was an incidental item of bewilderment to traders.

With the second month of the performance starting, most critics were predicting it would be taken off the boards. But they couldn't agree on when.

President Truman predicted "in the near future," but Price Control Board Chairman Thompson said it would be "some time," Deputy O.P.A. Administrator Baker gave it "two or three weeks," but Reconversion Director Steelman forecast the shortage "will become worse this winter."

Livestock experts, searching the records, found that hog receipts invariably increase substantially between September and December.

In cattle, the record is not so emphatic. Wyatt said range cows were coming to market now, and native dairy cows will start coming shortly. Records show that cattle receipts at Chicago are higher in October than September, but that they fall off in November and drop still lower in December.

Meanwhile, everyone was blaming everyone else for sponsoring the show. The American Meat Institute said it was the O.P.A. Congressman Sabath (D-Ill.) said it was the packers. Democrats said Republicans did it, and Republicans said it was all the fault of Democrats.

Cows said "moo" and hogs said "oink." Observers interpreted this as "no comment."

Jap A-Scientists Held by Russians

Atlanta Constitution Says Reds Bring Pressure to Find Out How

Atlanta, Oct. 3 (AP)—Japanese scientists who developed and successfully tested an atom bomb three days before the war ended are now prisoners of the Russians in Moscow, the Atlanta Constitution said in a copyrighted story in today's issue.

The author, David Snell, a former reporter for the paper who recently returned from service with the 24th Criminal Investigation Detachment operating in Korea, said the Russians had brought pressure on the captured scientists to learn the "atomic know how."

Snell said he obtained his story from a Japanese officer who represented himself as head of counter-espionage at Japan's atomic developing project at Konan, Korea.

This officer, Snell wrote, declared that the Japanese destroyed their machinery, secret papers, and partly completed bombs only hours before the Russian Army swept into Konan.

"This story may throw light on Stalin's recent statement that America will not long have a monopoly on atomic weapons," Snell said in the Constitution's story.

At Tokyo, U. S. Army intelligence officers today joined both American and Japanese scientists in scoffing at Snell's account.

"It is a complete lie," commented Japan's foremost nuclear physicist, Dr. Yoshio Nishina.

"Most unlikely" was the terse comment of U. S. Army intelligence in Tokyo.

Meanwhile, War Department officials at Washington declined immediate comment, while Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, who directed the atom bomb Manhattan project, observed that he "would be very much interested if the story were true."

At San Francisco, however, Secretary of War Patterson said he was sure reports of the Japanese atomic explosive were not true.

Asked if he were denying the report that Japanese had made atomic tests three days before the war ended, he said, "That's right. I deny it."

15,000 R.O.T.C. Students In First Army Command

Registration in both senior and junior R.O.T.C. units throughout the U. S. First Army Command has reached a prescribed quota of approximately 15,000 students, it was announced today by General Courtney H. Hodges, First Army Commander.

The completed registration paves the way for the First Army to launch its intensive Reserve Officers' Training Corps program, which is based on the records and lessons of World War 2. War tested techniques in education will be utilized by army instructors at colleges and secondary schools throughout New England, New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

Predicts Better Output

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—C. Chester DuMont, state commissioner of agriculture, predicted today a continuing increase in New York's milk production and a market able to absorb the output in 1947 at prices close to the present level. The commissioner, in a radio broadcast, said the outlook for other phases of the state's agriculture also was "good."

Brooklyn Man Is In Jail; Is Held For Truck Theft

James Gray, 46, of Bay 17, 181st street, Brooklyn, was arrested by Bergen county police yesterday at Hackensack, N. J., and turned over to Corporal Metzger and Trooper Austin of the Highland State Police station for arraignment under a charge of grand larceny for the alleged taking of his employer's truck on September 21, without permission of the owner.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Devo at Gardiner, Gray waived examination and was held for grand jury action and lodged in jail.

On September 21 Gray and his employer, Tony Cataldo of 1662 Cropsey street, Brooklyn, came to Ulster county and went to Clintondale to buy fruit. Cataldo told Gray to take the tractor portion of the truck to the home of Gray's grandmother, Mrs. Lena Gray at Gardiner and park it there for the night. State Police say Gray took the truck and that night allegedly took it and with friends drove away for a ride. The truck was cracked-up near Rosendale and as a result the grand larceny charge was lodged and Gray was arrested Wednesday and returned to Ulster county to stand arraignment.

No Big Three Meeting

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—Voicing accord with Secretary of State Byrnes' foreign policy speech in Paris today, President Truman told his news conference he has given no consideration to another Big Three meeting. word unofficially, however, and promptly went into joint conference with U. S. security officers on the subject of transportation.

Would Go to Anglo Zone

The acquitted men want to go to the British zone.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor said that the acquittal of Schacht has had such an adverse effect on Allied plans to try Nazi industrialists on war-making charges that Justice Robert H. Jackson intends to outline the problem to President Truman.

At any rate, American attorneys said, the International Military Tribunal's refusal to convict Schacht, the former German economics minister and Reichbank president, means that an Allied trial of German industrialists originally scheduled to being this month now will be postponed, perhaps until early next year.

Attorneys have been given until December 15 to file briefs in the cases of such industrialists as the Krupp and Farben interests, they hoped might save some of the defendants from the ignominy of the gallows.

The acquittal of the German general staff and high command as units also was said to have an important bearing on future trials of individuals as "militarists." One now that such individuals could be convicted only on a showing that they were responsible or linked directly to some war crime or atrocity.

A news blackout still veiled the heavily guarded Nuernberg court-house and jail housing 11 condemned Hitler lieutenants as defense attorneys prepared appeals.

WOULD A WAR CURE COMMUNISM?

Would a victorious war against the Communists kill off Communism? Particularly, would it kill the Communist movement in America?

Whatever organized movement existed to promote Nazism in this country before World War 2 apparently was broken up even before Germany was beaten. Nazism undoubtedly was a product of democracy in America. The American and the Russian war against Hitler's projects to take over Europe.

But this example can hardly be useful as a guide to what may happen if we have to fight the parent and guardian of Communism, because Nazism never had comparable strength here. Its followers numbered perhaps a tenth or even only a fifteenth as many as the Russophiles. They apparently counted as being in their camp many men and women violently opposed to both Nazism and Communism, patriotic people, sometimes taken advantage of by Nazi agents, but whose devotion to traditional Americanism would put to shame the loud left-wingers who cried for war the day Hitler turned on Stalin.

If we fight Russia we will learn to hate Russians, no doubt—if that is of any use to us—and likewise we will no doubt see less of the outright Red press and hear fewer of the pro-Soviet voices over the ether.

But will our home-grown Marxists quit plugging for Marxism? Will they become converts to the doctrine of the state as the servant of man rather than man the servant of the state? Will they learn to see the greatness of any man—grocer or farmer—who stands on his own principles and resources and dares competition to down him?

Washington Instead of Moscow

I think there will be two phases to the struggle between Marxism and Americanism if we are entangled in another world conflict:

NEW HURLEY

New Hurley, Oct. 3—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Quick of Libertyville were recent callers at the home of their aunt and mother, Mrs. Edna DuBois and Mrs. Tellerday.

Mrs. Fred Rose and grandson of Walden visited relatives in this place Thursday.

Among those who attended the State Council of Churches' convention at Newburgh last Wednesday and Thursday were the Rev. and Mrs. John Tyse, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hotelling, Gerow Schoonmaker, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell, Miss Bertha Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. LeVerne Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murgitroyd have moved from the Tracy Nallock place to rooms in the home with Mrs. Edna DuBois and mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jack of Chicago are the parents of a son, Peter, born September 23. Mrs. Jack was formerly Miss Corrine Wilkin, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wilkin of this place.

Clarence Spencer, Jr., who has a position at Ithaca spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Cokes have been visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. William Grill, in New York. Mrs. Cokes remained for a week to care for her little granddaughter, who is ill.

Sunday at 11 o'clock world-wide communion will be observed in the New Hurley Church. The worship service theme for Sunday school will be "A Christ Sized Map." Gerow Schoonmaker, will conduct the junior service and Mrs. J. W. Tyse will lead the adult worship. A discussion of the "Heifers for Relief" project will follow.

sharpened. Street fights become frequent. Under the leadership of the Communist Party, the workers organize Revolutionary Committees to be in command of the uprising. There are battles in the principal cities. Barricades are built and defended. The workers' rule continues to fight but they are soon silenced and forced to flee by the united revolutionary forces of workers and soldiers. The revolution is victorious. "Armed workers and soldiers and Marines seize the principal government offices, invade the residences of the president and his cabinet members arrest them, declare the old regime abolished, establish their own power, the police the sprawling vanquished empires. But we still will have such men as Olgin here at home ready to take advantage of years of New Deal education and wartime controls. I think our chance to whip Communism far better if we can have a generation of peace. (Copyright by John F. Dille Co.)

Movement for Freedom of the Press Still Faces Obstructions

Effective News Reading Held As Vital Factor

The President of the National Association of Journalism Directors, an organization of advisors of secondary school publications, here presents the other side of effective news reporting—effective news reading. She contends one of the important by-products of high school journalism is instruction in how to read.

By Maude Shanks Staudenmayer
AP Features

The newspaper is an American institution—a part of the environment of every citizen, in which he participates, as a rule, only as a consumer—a very gullible one, too, unless he has learned how to read this daily publication, the textbook of the masses.

Since every newspaper has its special point of view, it is necessary to read more than one to get a rounded picture of important issues. Identical facts may have been given, but with varying interpretation. Periodically, perhaps once a week, every reader should buy a paper with whose news he violently disagrees, rather than those papers which reinforce his opinions.

To follow events and trends intelligently, the reader should grasp the central idea of every important news story. He should notice particularly latest moves in politics, governmental policies, reports of important speeches, and events involving prominent people.

The Right to Print

The press if it is to be of use to a free people must be a "free press." It must have the right to print whatever it pleases so long as it does not abuse personal rights or moral standards. Publicity is a guarantee of honest administration of public affairs. The intelligent reader ascertains how far his newspaper follows or deviates from the ethics of journalism—freedom of the press, responsibility, independence, decency, fair play, impartiality, sincerity, truthfulness and accuracy.

The Constitution guarantees this freedom of the press, but there are parallel duties. A newspaper has a moral obligation to the public to investigate and expose political corruption, unfair labor practices, crime, and unsanitary conditions. Attentive reading will disclose the paper's attitude toward these responsibilities. Critical analysis of news stories, editorials, interpretive columns and cartoons will show how the paper meets these obligations.

The public should be concerned with concealed propaganda and be able to detect prejudice, bias, and coloring of news. Reporters are human beings. Hence it is impossible to be strictly objective. If an article expresses an unusual or strongly marked attitude, the author may have a special slant and the article should be checked with other accounts.

Propaganda Devices
Epithets and labels are common stock-in-trade of the propagandist. Identification of contemporary persons or events with heroes or events of the past, the use of innuendo, generalizations unsupported by evidence reveal the hand of the propagandist. The wise reader will learn to detect these devices.

Giving news items undue prominence, editorializing news stories, burying items on inside pages are common methods of slanting the news. Still another means of slanting the news is headline news stories so that reader will form an opinion without reading the story.

A reader must learn to recognize controversial issues, analyze and weigh arguments, distinguish between fact and opinion, detect partisanship, evaluate sources and check accounts. Advertising pays the way of the newspaper. It also raises the American standard of living. The discerning reader will learn to evaluate advertisements as he does the news.

Synagogue News

Congregation Ahavath Israel, 72 West street, Frank D. Plotke, rabbi, Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) services begin Friday evening, October 4, at 5:15 o'clock (Koi Nidre). Rabbi Plotke will preach on the subject "Return to Religion." Morning services will start at 7:30 o'clock. A Yizkor service will be held in the morning at which time Rabbi Plotke will speak on the topic "Shall Live and Who Shall Die." The congregation is asked to meet at the synagogue on Koi Nidre night in time so that the services can begin on schedule. Parents who have not yet returned their children in our school are asked to do so as soon as possible. A new beginners' class has been set up, and it is not too late yet to enroll your child. Please contact Rabbi Plotke either at the synagogue (409-W) or at his home (5069).

Community Betterment Is Stressed

AP Newsfeatures
Newspaper campaigns for betterment of the communities in which they operate are as much a part of the average daily as the printers' ink which makes the programs tangible. Editor and Publisher says in an article summing up 29 years of Pulitzer awards for meritorious public service.

William Reed, who made the survey of the awards for the national magazine, says the prizes serve "to dramatize the positions newspapers hold as welfare institutions." The campaigns for which awards were made have been "exceptional only in quality," he says.

The services for which the awards were made often started long before the year in which the publisher "tacked up a gold medal in the front office" and continued long afterward. This, Reed suggests, is the normal function and program for a daily newspaper. The newspaper pressure for the abatement of evil or the development of good conditions in the community continues year after year and often produces gratifying results.

The 1946 award to the Scranton (Pennsylvania) Times, for example, was the result of efforts started in 1931. The paper assailed irregularities in a federal court. And when the prize was awarded 15 years later the newspaper was still demanding more effective action in the case although the original irregularities had been stopped.

Ponzi Exposure

On the other hand, some of the campaigns for which the awards were made were of such a nature that the work ended when the objectives were achieved. The Boston Post's exposure of the Ponzi swindle in 1920 was of this type. Once the man responsible went to prison, the swindles stopped.

Newspaper work as a constructive force in the community is not always a safe occupation, Reed points out. One of the awards in 1926, was made to the Canton (Ohio) Daily News whose editor, Don Mellett, was slain while conducting a crusade against vice. The Los Angeles (California) Times won the award in 1931 in establishing the right of a newspaper to comment on judicial cases still pending. The paper carried the contempt sentences to the Supreme Court—and won. The Medford (Oregon) Mail-Tribune, campaigning against political terrorism in 1934, faced a boycott and threats to the lives of the editors.

A Wide Field

Newspaper efforts to improve their communities seem destined to go on indefinitely. Nearly every editor and publisher submitting material for the article "added a postscript which showed his recognition of the challenging problems today. They envision no dearth of ills to create sustenance for the prize-winning campaign of 1946, 1947 or any other year in the foreseeable future." Editor and Publisher says, however, not confined to dealing with corruption. The Bismarck (North Dakota) Tribune won its 1938 award for its development of plans and programs which helped restore the dust bowl to productivity. The New York Times won the first award in 1918 for printing the full texts of documents and speeches during World War I. The Omaha (Nebraska) World Herald was recognized in 1942 for its scrap collection campaign which became a model for other newspapers all over the country.

Drive on Klan

The awards have been made repeatedly for campaigns against the Ku Klux Klan. The old New York Herald, the Memphis (Tennessee) Commercial Appeal, the Columbus (Georgia) Enquirer, Sun and the Indianapolis (Indiana) Times were the papers involved. These campaigns have not ended.

The variety of services which newspapers can render is indicated by some of the other awards: The Waterbury (Connecticut) Republican and American campaigned against political corruption in 1939. The St. Louis (Missouri) Post Dispatch (1937) earned the prize for exposing election frauds. The Detroit (Michigan) Free Press was honored in 1945 for a graft expose. The New York World-Telegram in 1933 got the prize for a series of campaigns on veterans' relief, a political campaign, lotteries and graft. The Milwaukee (Wisconsin) Journal fought Germanism during World War I to win the 1919 award. The Sacramento (California) Bee conducted a political expose for the 1934 prize. The Atlanta (Georgia) Constitution (1930) investigated the municipal administration. The Cedar Rapids (Iowa) Gazette (1935) fought political corruption. The St. Louis (Missouri) Post Dispatch (1940) assailed the smoke nuisance. The Indianapolis (Indiana) News (1931) worked against city government waste. The New York Times 1943 challenge the methods of teaching history in schools.

The Miami (Florida) Daily News (1939) fought corruption. The New York World (1924) attacked penance.

National Newspaper Boy Day

Here are some of the Freeman carrier boys, who are honored on Newspaper Boy Day, October 5. These boys who deliver our newspapers are symbolic of the youth of the nation. These young men of today will be the leaders of tomorrow and upon their shoulders will rest the responsibilities of a better nation and a better world.

In the top pictures are the Uptown Freeman carrier boys lined up ready to set out on their routes, and Len Sickler, Jr., ready to fill his truck with Freeman at the main office building downtown.

The photos in the center show, left, Kingston News Service truck in charge of Leo Henderson leaving The Freeman at East Chester street on Broadway for the carrier boys to start their routes from this point in the city; center, Louis Hornbeck, who delivers 200 Freeman in the uptown section of the city, shows how he places his papers each evening at the homes along his route, and right is Michael Melnick, one of Joe Epstein's boys, receiving his papers from the carrier window at the downtown Freeman building.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Oct. 3.—At the meeting of the Reformed Ladies' Aid Friday the birthdays of Mrs. Frank Roosa and Mrs. Elting Harp, Sr., were celebrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sutherland and son now are living in an apartment in the home of Mrs. John Christensen, Miss Bensley, sister of Miss Esther Bensley, is living in the apartment formerly occupied by the Sutherlands.

Ernie Schaeffer is expected home on furlough this week.

Miss Cora DuBois, Mrs. Bruyn Hasbrouck and Miss Lois Betz are a committee to make plans for celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Reformed Ladies' Aid at their November meeting.

The Kingston College Women's Society held a dinner at the Old Fort Tuesday night.

There will be four teams for intermural football at the State College this season—two from the fraternities, Delphics and Kappas, a team from the freshmen class and a fourth picked from all other men.

At the meeting of St. Andrew's Guild, held at the home of Mrs. Henry Eiert, Mrs. Robert Forshaw, Mrs. Marcela Lacanhan, Mrs. Elsie Oates and Mrs. Alice Dickson were admitted as members.

The Kappa fraternity house has been opened to both fraternity members and other men attending State Teachers' College. It is being run on a cooperative basis, under two separate divisions. Miss Minnie C. Wolcott, practice school nurse, is acting as house mother.

Mrs. Donald Beatty and daughter, Donna, motored to New York on Wednesday.

The famous "Black Diamond" supper will be held again at the Old Fort on October 29 at the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Daniel Shaw was a lunch-guest of Miss Jessie C. Crimp at the Beekman Arms Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Harp and family visited their eldest son, Robert, at Schenectady. He is a student in Union Law College.

The United Societies of St. Joseph's Church, will hold their first game party at the center October 8. They plan parties for the second Tuesday of each month.

Mrs. Jorgensen, who was a teacher in Japan, spoke at a tea of the world fellowship chapter of the First Reformed Church, Kingston, Friday afternoon.

George H. Chatfield, 71, who died in St. Luke's Hospital September 19, was a graduate of New Paltz Normal School, who became a famous educator. He was a member of the New York city board of education and a former director of the bureau of attendance. He was born in Cornwall.

The Leacock family are visiting Kingston where their son, Jimmy, was stationed with the 26th Engineers in 1942.

Little Business Man

Saturday, October 5 is National Newspaper Boy Day, an event which is celebrated each year during National Newspaper Week.

The newspaper boy is a little business man in his own right. Any boy who successfully manages a newspaper route—and not all succeed any more than every adult does in his chosen work—gains experience that is of inestimable value to him in later years. Literally millions of Americans who carried paper routes in their youth can attest to the truth of this statement. If he is a good carrier boy he learns to be punctual, neat, systematic and efficient. He gains a priceless insight into human nature and learns how to meet and deal with people.

Newspaper delivery is light work and besides providing good business training it affords an encouraging profit for the small time involved.

A newspaper route has been a traditional American juvenile occupation as long as there have been American newspapers. The paper route has a long and honorable record as a money-maker, a builder of sturdy physique a beneficial introduction to the fundamentals of business and accounting and a stimulus to thrift.

Chance for Navy, Coast Guard, Marine Veterans

New York, Oct. 2.—Honorable discharged veterans of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, who received certain specialist instruction during the war, now have the same opportunity as army veterans to enlist in the regular army in a grade commensurate with their prior active service in any branch of the armed forces, but not in a grade higher than that held at separation, the Army Recruiting Service, First Army announces.

Because the army urgently needs men qualified in certain specialties, veterans of all branches who have left the service since May 12, 1945, and who are not otherwise eligible for reenlistment above the grade of private, now may return to service in the army in the higher grade if they had at least six months service in one of the listed occupational specialties, and if their enlistment is for three years.

Passes Flight Test for Private Pilot's License

Warren Delavan of 471 Albee street, son of Edwin Delavan, of 33 Lawrence street has successfully passed his flight test for his private pilot's license. In the near future, he expects to obtain a commercial license through Thomas Heard, manager and instructor of the Kingston-Lister Airport.

Together with James Locke of 9 Delta Place, who also has recently obtained his license, he hopes to purchase a plane for private use. Mr. Delavan, better

Right to Know, Right to Print Are Neglected

By KENT COOPER
Executive Director
The Associated Press

National Newspaper Week this year finds the movement for freedom of the press facing obstructions and generally being buffeted around.

In the past twelve months censorship has been relaxed in some countries, but there probably is more censorship today than in any other recent peacetime era. One thing has developed that is worthwhile: public consciousness in many parts of the world that freedom of the press is an essential.

A great deal of lip service to the idea has been given by officials who could really do something about it, and it could have been put higher on the agenda of the United Nations than number twenty, under a sub-head. It should have been placed first. Another thing of great concern is that the stress seems to be on freedom of information, without realization that information that can't be printed avails nothing. As I said the first of the year in a message to the United Nations:

"It is my fervent hope that you and your associates will develop a program going far beyond mere access of reporters to news and communications facilities. The whole structure of human rights in a world of free men, with governments of their own choosing, rests upon one basic right—the right to know."

Vague phrases such as freedom of information are inadequate. The fundamental medium of communications is the printed word. The right to know must be implemented by the right to print, by full press freedom. This objective must not be the selfish one to get news for ourselves. World understanding can be achieved only if news flows freely to all countries and may be freely published in them."

Simple Starling Solution

Batavia, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—Latest, and probably the most simple, in the long list of prescriptions for routing starlings comes from James J. Stoney.

"I just got out a long shovel and banged it on the sidewalk twice," he related. "They flew away, headed to the north. 'It's apparently a good system,' he added when the birds failed to return the following night."

Mead Opens His Campaign, Attacks Housing Program

New York Oct. 3 (P)—Sen. James M. Mead, opening his gubernatorial campaign last night charged Gov. Thomas F. Dewey with having "betrayed New York state's veterans in proper housing."

He played a five-point housing program of his own after declaring in statewide broadcasts.

"The New York housing scandal is the result of the deliberate failure of Governor Dewey. It is part and parcel of a conspiracy to keep certain interests, aligned with the Dewey machine, to profit by squeezing the people who are seeking shelter."

Mead Democratic nominee quoted what he called Dewey's 1944 pledge to keep the state surplus in trust to meet "needs of that critical period when men who were fighting the war came home."

What has happened to the veterans' trust fund, he asked. It has been converted into a Dewey slush fund. Not one tenth of this trust has been allotted for veterans. Instead Governor Dewey has diverted over two hundred million dollars for a postwar luxury boulevard.

Mead declared that except for alterations of a few buildings every veterans' housing project in the state so far completed has been made possible by federal aid adding that Dewey was attempting to take credit for a housing program begun during Gov. Herbert H. Lehman's administration.

Offers His Program
In advancing his own program Mead made these promises if elected.

"I will fight for the two hundred million dollars which Governor Dewey has taken from the veterans' trust fund and use it for immediate housing needs."

"I will sponsor a revolving fund of four hundred million dollars for permanent slum clearance and low-rent housing with appropriate annual subsidies."

"I will eliminate the restriction of one million dollars per year for subsidy commitments."

"I will allocate not less than fifty million dollars from the post-war reconstruction fund for capital grants to municipal housing authorities throughout the state to enable them to meet increased costs of construction."

"I will sponsor legislation to insure fair return on investments of private capital for moderate rental housing intended to attract at least one billion dollars of private capital into this field."

Commenting on the broadcast Alger B. Chapman, Republican campaign manager said it was based on a lack of factual information regarding administrative and legislative matters in this state.

He said the Dewey administration led the nation in its veterans' program and its long range housing program.

Stefanko Is Under Murder Indictment

Catskill, N. Y., Oct. 3 (P)—

Frank Stefanko, 36, is under a first degree murder indictment in the shooting last June 20 of Edward H. Meyer, 56.

A Greene county grand jury returned the indictment yesterday before State Supreme Court Justice William J. Murray.

Meyer and Mrs. Dorothy Ricci were shot as they sat in an automobile near Hudson.

Mrs. Ricci recovered.

DIABETES

When we read about people who lived in the Middle Ages and come across a description of the meals which were served them, sometimes we are shocked at the quantity of food that the well-to-do consumed. Perhaps we should remember, however, that people were more active in those days than they are today.

Some of the diseases which people have today may be traced in part to their failure to adjust their eating habits to the lives they lead. One of the reasons that diabetes has become more common in recent years may be that people are eating too much rich food while living rather sedentary lives. This of course is not the only explanation for the greater prevalence of diabetes but it is undoubtedly one of the factors involved.

Diabetes is due to an overabundance of sugar in the blood. The body requires sugar for heat and energy and it obtains this sugar from carbohydrates such foods as sweets, bread, cereals, potatoes, macaroni and spaghetti.

If more sugar is consumed than the body can use, the excess is stored away or turns to fat. Conversion of sugar into heat and energy is made possible by a secretion in the blood stream called insulin which is manufactured by cells in the pancreas. If anything interferes with the flow of insulin, the body is unable to use the sugar consumed from carbohydrates and diabetes results.

Early symptoms of diabetes are constant thirst and hunger, even though a normal amount of food is eaten, loss of weight for no apparent reason and spells of weakness and dizziness.

If these symptoms are present the individual should consult a doctor immediately. He will make an analysis and test the blood for sugar content. The earlier diabetes is discovered the easier it is to control it.

The diabetic patient should be on a special diet as recommended by a doctor. Indiscriminate cutting down on carbohydrates is not sufficient to control the disease. The patient should be under medical care. Often the diabetic must take injections of insulin made from the pancreas of certain animals, to supply the deficiency in his own blood. Insulin neither cures nor prevents diabetes. It is an aid in controlling the disease and should be used only as the doctor advises.

Any infection may have serious consequences for the diabetic. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that extreme precautions be exercised to avoid infection or, in the case of even a small cut, to consult a physician.

In the new article, "Treating TB Early Will Be a Success," this column is sponsored in the culture opened under sponsorship of better health, by the ship of the Philippine Government.

Record for Incorporation

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3 (P)—Incorporation of 29,830 stock companies in New York state during the first nine months of 1946 surpasses the previous all-time record for a full year. Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran said yesterday that the previous all-time full year record was 26,817. The figures also disclosed a capitalization in the first seven months of 1946 of $418,960,626 compared with $100,490,637 for the same period a year ago.

Only by California

Washington, Oct. 3 (P)—The Public Roads Administration says the number of motor vehicles registered in New York state probably will reach 2,560,000 by the end of the year—a figure exceeded only by California. Pennsylvania is expected to wind up the year in third place, the P.R.A. added.

The World Today

By GLENN BABB
(AP Foreign News Analyst)

More and more the position of the United States in China resembles that of Britain in Greece. In each case the end of the war found armed forces of one of the western powers in occupation of territory of an Allied nation and faced with an obligation to preserve the fruits of the common victory and attempt to restore normal law and order. And in each case the occupying forces found themselves, largely through force of circumstances, involved in a bloody civil war which they have sought, thus far without success, to end.

The result of these factors, and to some extent of the policies of Washington and London, has been the Americans in China and the British in Greece have found themselves in the position of actually, if not avowedly, supporting a rightist regime whose acts and policies are not wholly admirable. Despite their efforts to remain neutral they have drawn on themselves the bitter opposition and criticism of revolutionary Communist regimes which have the moral, if not the physical, support of Soviet Russia.

Has Proved Embarrassing

This has proved embarrassing to both the western governments, both at home and in their international relations. And the Moscow propaganda machine has done its best to increase this embarrassment. For a time the loudest blasts were aimed at the British forces in Greece, which Russia and her satellites at Paris and in the United Nations sessions at Lake Success condemned as a threat to peace. The main attack appears now to have shifted to American intervention in China. The head man himself, Joseph Stalin, declared last week that he considered "the earliest withdrawal of all American forces from China" vital to peace. And now Trud, the organ of Soviet trade unions, and the chief Communist spokesman at Nanking come out simultaneously with attacks on American involvement in China in strikingly similar terms. Both declare that Chiang Kai-Shek has 57 American-equipped divisions, all engaged in the war against the Chinese Communists. Both say Chiang is using several hundred American-made warplanes (Chou En-Lai, the Nanking spokesman, makes it an even thousand) against his Communist foes. The tenor of both declarations is to emphasize the magnitude of Chiang's current military effort and to insist that it would have been impossible without American aid.

'There's Enough Truth'

There is enough truth in these statements to make them effective propaganda. It is true that large quantities of American weapons and other supplies have reached Chiang, both before and since the fall of Japan. American vessels carried tens of thousands of his troops to Manchuria and thereby facilitated his campaign against the Communist in that rich, strategic territory. But it is also true that the United States has worked mightily and in spite of great discouragements to end the Chinese Civil War, and has brought heavy pressure on Chiang Kai-Shek to convince him of the necessity of coming to terms with the Communists and admitting them to a share in the government of the Chinese people. Both Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart and Special Envoy General George C. Marshall have worked with admirable patience and good

Bradley Scores Stelle in Legion Convention Speech

San Francisco, Oct. 3 (AP)—The American Legion convention turned today to consideration of the controversial "on-the-job-training" issue, while still fresh in the minds of the delegates was the denunciation by General Omar N. Bradley of their national commander's position on the subject.

Bradley, head of the Veterans' Administration, roundly scored Legion Commander John Stelle in an address to the convention late yesterday.

Stelle has accused Bradley of "breaking faith" with the veterans in approving a $200 ceiling for on-the-job training.

In his speech, Bradley retorted that Stelle was attacking a law enacted by Congress "which prevents a privileged minority of veterans from profiting unfairly by the G.I. bill."

Reminding the convention that the Veterans' Administration is "first an agency of the government," he added that so long as he is administrator of the agency "will do nothing to surrender the welfare of this nation to the special interests of any minority."

"I am charged by my host—your national commander—with breaking faith with the veterans because I have sided with Congress in an effort to defend the rights of all veterans against the encroachments of a privileged few," he added.

As he abruptly closed his address, turned and strode from the rostrum, passing red-faced Stelle as the latter came forward.

"Nobody admires guts more than I do," Stelle shouted as he reached the microphone. "Anybody who wants to debate the subject can do so tomorrow when the national commander will be on the floor with the Illinois delegation."

Invitation from Paris
San Francisco, Oct. 3 (AP)—The American Legion today has an invitation from General Maurice Mathonet, military attaché to the French embassy in Washington, to hold its national convention next year in Paris.

R.T. Legion Post Picks Lobello as 1947 Commander

Rosendale, Oct. 3.—At the election of officers for 1947, Peter F. Lobello, Jr., was chosen commander of Rosendale-Tillson Post, 1219, American Legion.

Other officers elected:
Vice commanders — John F. Tyler, Frank Thorpe and John A. Ruska.
Chaplain — The Rev. A. L. Shultis.
Treasurer — John H. Meyer.
Adjutant — George W. Nichols.
As the bylaws of the post call for two members to serve with the officers as an executive committee, John P. Lamb and Oscar P. Deidolf, retiring commander, were elected.

Adjutant George W. Nichols was elected as delegate from the post to attend the county convention and other Ulster sessions where Legion matters of importance are on the agenda.

Vice Commander John F. Tyler was chosen as alternate for the delegate's position.

According to the report of Adjutant G. W. Nichols, control of the post executive committee rests with veterans of World War 2. Seven out of the nine comprising it served in the recent war.

At the next meeting, Thursday, October 10, plans will be completed for an intensive membership campaign to reach a goal of 75 Legionnaires by October 20. Starting time of the session is 8:20 p. m.

The Legionnaires intend to discuss ways and means of assisting the Auxiliary to complete its reorganization by October 24.

Arrangements are now being made for installation of 1947 officers.

SHARING...

gives telephone service to many more people

Your telephone company is up against a "shortage problem," too. It came about because the greatest demand for service in our history developed at a time when we were unable to obtain equipment such as switchboards, cables and other complex apparatus, needed to meet that demand.

Like your shop-keeper, we are fully aware of the public's need for our "product." He sells "one-to-a-customer" in order to serve as many of his customers as possible with his limited supply of merchandise. We, in somewhat similar fashion, have to share our product. By furnishing party-line service only, many more families have a share of the telephone equipment now available.

This sharing will have to be continued until everyone of the hundreds of families on our waiting list has received telephone service. And, of course, until this has been done, we cannot change the party-line service of our present customers to an individual line.

Honors for Eisenhower
Edinburgh, Scotland, Oct. 3 (AP)—Scotland's proud and ancient capital heaped honors upon Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today, making him a freeman of the city and an honorary doctor of laws in Edinburgh's greatest fete day since the end of the war. After receiving the freedom of the city from the mayor, Sir John I. Falgout, Gen. Eisenhower told a cheering throng that "world cheerfulness must be achieved, else we will, in a twinkling, travel a backward route over mankind's long and laborious progress from his ancient caves to the present."

Nutritionist Is To Make Visit To Local School

Research Institute Doctor Will Test 150 at K.H.S. as Part of Survey

Dr. Otto A. Bessey, internationally famed nutritionist of the New York City Public Health Research Institute, will arrive at Kingston High School on October 11 to make nutritional tests of 150 children, School Superintendent A. J. Laidlaw announced today.

State Senator Thomas G. Desmond, chairman of the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Nutrition, which is sponsoring the survey, disclosed the choice of Kingston as one of the five upstate communities where the nutritional survey of 750 school children will be made.

"The precise measurement of the amount each child possesses of seven important food factors," Senator Desmond said, "has been made possible through new micro-chemical techniques developed by Dr. Bessey and his associates. We believe this test will in the near future be used throughout the world to assay nutritional status, and we are delighted to include Kingston among the pioneers in employing this test."

Stating that the lack of widespread surveys has been one of the great gaps in the field of nutrition, Senator Desmond believes that the discoveries made at the Public Health Research Institute of New York City will pave the way for community-wide and nation-wide surveys of expectant mothers, factory workers, the aged, and other groups requiring nutritional consideration.

Blood samples taken at the Kingston school will be sent to New York for laboratory analysis. Arrangements will be made to notify the school physician when any cases of malnutrition are discovered.

Dr. H. W. Keator, school physician, will be present to assist Dr. Bessey and his staff of three technical assistants.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Marie L. Furguson, wife of Hugh Furguson, died in her home at Lake Katrine this morning. Mrs. Furguson was a member of the Lake Katrine Grange, the Pomona Grange, and of Vanderlyn Council, No. 41, Daughters of America. Funeral services will be held from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Friday evening at 8 o'clock, with burial Saturday in the Greenwood cemetery in Brooklyn.

Mary E. Kelly, a lifelong and highly respected resident of High Falls died today at the Benedictine Hospital. She is survived by one brother, William M. Kelly, and several nieces and nephews. Funeral will be held at the George J. Moyle Funeral Home, Rosendale, Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock and thence to St. Peter's Church where at 10 o'clock a requiem Mass will be celebrated for the repose of her soul. Burial will take place in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Edgar Hudler died suddenly in his home in Mt. Tremper on Wednesday. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mabel Hudler; a daughter, Clara; two sons, Egbert and Robert; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Avery and Miss Josephine Hudler, all of Mt. Tremper. Funeral services will be held from the home on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock with burial in the Hudler cemetery at Mt. Tremper. The body is now at the H. Lee Brethaupt Funeral Home in Phenicia, where friends may call Friday afternoon and evening. The Rev. Harry Todd of Woodstock, will officiate at the funeral service.

Mrs. Laura Ames Alliger of Stoneridge, Katonah, N. Y., died at the Northern Westchester Hospital, Mt. Kisco, suddenly on Wednesday. She is survived by her husband, Lewis A. Alliger and three daughters, Mrs. Virginia A. Megowan of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Marlin R. Wolf of White Plains, and Mrs. Harry W. Durand, Jr. of Chattanooga, Tenn. Funeral services will be private and it is earnestly requested that no flowers be sent. A memorial service will be conducted later. Mrs. Alliger was a sister-in-law of Mrs. J. Allen Wood of Kingston and had long been prominent in Red Cross work.

Funeral services for Stanley Warnas were held Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. from the W. N. Honer Funeral Home and at St. Joseph's Church at 10 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. John M. Brown. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir. Monday evening the Rev. John D. Simmons led in the recitation of the Rosary. Later the same evening, the Rosendale-Tillon Post 1219 of the American Legion led by Commander Oscar Diebold and Chaplain Rev. Albert H. Shults assembled in a body and held their memorial services for the departed member. There were many floral tributes and numerous spiritual bouquets. Bearers were Oscar Diebold, Peter F. La Belle, William Beck and Nicholas Kuerstine, all officers of the Rosendale-Tillon Post. Burial was in the Holy Cross cemetery, Brooklyn.

visible. There was a heavy rain at the time.
Second in Two Weeks
It was the second plane tragedy in the Newfoundland wilds in two weeks. On September 18 a Belgian Sabena airliner crashed near Gander, killing 27 of the 44 aboard.

Stephenville is on the west coast of Newfoundland, 921 air miles from New York and approximately 225 miles west of Gander. First reports from relatives of the passengers indicated some of the women and children were en route to Germany to join their husbands.

At Gander, officials of the airline said rescue planes which flew over the area reported the wreckage still was burning four hours after the crash and that it was unlikely anyone aboard was alive. The big plane, a Skymaster, smashed into a hillside 10 miles from Harmon Field at Stephenville, where it had refueled because the Gander Airport was closed in with rain and fog. The ceiling at Harmon Field was 5,000 feet and visibility 10 miles.

The Coast Guard dispatched a B-17 and a helicopter from Argentia, Nfld. The helicopter was expected to reach the scene at 2:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) today.

There have been three 27-victim plane crashes in American commercial aviation. In addition to the Sabena crash, other such crashes involved an American Airlines plane at San Diego, Calif., March 3, 1946, and a non-scheduled Viking Airline plume near Richmond, Va., last May 16.

The special assistant to the commanding general for search and rescue of the Atlantic Division of the Air Transport Command reported at Fort Totten, N. Y., that paratroopers from the 18th Air Transport Command at Presque Isle, Me., and Goose Bay, Labrador, were speeding to Harmon Field, Stephenville, to take part in the search and necessary rescue work.

Persons aboard the plane were eight crew members, including a stewardess, and 31 passengers. Nineteen of the passengers were

Ellenville Chief Of Police Upheld In Strike Move

A.L.P. Approves Removal of Officers From Plant; Decision Reversed by Village Board

The executive committee of the Ulster County American Labor Party upholds the recent action of Mayor Edward Graham of Ellenville in removing the Ellenville police from the picketing area at the strike-bound Ulster Knife Company in Ellenville.

Mayor Graham's action was later reversed by the Ellenville Village Board which voted to maintain police protection at the company gates for trucks desiring to cross the picket lines.

"We approve the statement made by Mayor Graham in which he said the local police should not be involved in a private enterprise, and that the police should not interfere as long as no crime is committed," the statement from the American Labor Party reads.

The executive committee of the Ulster County American Labor Party registered with the Ulster County Board of Elections including Morris Friedman, Adolph Eiling, Joseph Minkoff, Evelyn Streifer, Mary W. France, Abraham Rosenzweig and Anne Greenberg.

The letter follows:
October 2, 1946
Kingston Daily Freeman:
Kingston, N. Y.
Gentlemen:

The following is a press release from the Executive Committee of the Ulster County American Labor Party:
The Executive Committee of the Ulster County American Labor Party wishes to make a public statement on recent events connected with our in its seventh week in Ellenville, N. Y.

From a recent article given to the county press we note that the Village Board of Ellenville overruled Mayor Graham's action of removing police from the environs of the struck plant. As a result of this action of the Board, police are again at the scene of the strike, permitting trucks to cross the picket lines.

We approve the statement made by Mayor Graham in which he said the local police should not be involved in a private enterprise, and that the police should not interfere as long as no crime is committed.

Yours very truly,
ULSTER COUNTY AMERICAN LABOR PARTY

Two Bodies Found

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—Two bodies, tentatively identified as those of a man and a woman from Brooklyn reported missing since September 20, were found today in a sedan which was pulled out of the Harlem River at 215th street. The bodies, jammed in the front of the car and with the legs protruding from an open door, were believed by police to be those of Carlton Carter and Joyce Toller. The automobile was found by employees of the Department of Sanitation after barges had reported striking an obstruction. Police said it apparently had passed a dead-end sign and plunged into the river.

500 Tons of Cargo Await Shipment

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—John E. Strong, president of Local 807, International Brotherhood of Teamsters (A.F.L.), said today more than 500 tons of truck borne cargo, including a trailer truck load of material for the United Nations at Lake Success, was piled in New Jersey terminals classified as "hot freight."

Strong, whose union has been on strike more than a month, yesterday described "hot freight" as that which ordinarily was handled by his union but which he said was being detained from New York city to New Jersey terminals and there reloaded and trucked here.

Mary Staats Put On Probation for Unlawful Entry

Mary Staats, 56, of Ruby, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry on August 23, changed her former innocent plea in County Court this morning and entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry, the second count of the indictment. She was given a six months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation. Richard Overbaugh was her attorney.

Mrs. Staats allegedly took money from the Canton home in the town of Saugerties where her husband had been employed as a caretaker. She told the court partial restitution had been made and the rest would be paid. Payment was made a part of her probation terms, and she was instructed to make regular attendance at church.

Following disposition of the Staats case Judge Cashin granted a motion of District Attorney Bruhn to have all other sealed indictments disposed of at the adjourned date of court on November 12. Court adjourned to chambers for the disposition of several youthful offender matters.

Jurors will return in November to hear criminal matters.

Port's Business Is at Standstill

Total of 151 Ships Are at Landing Berths, 95 Are American

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—The nearly five billion dollar annual business of the Port of New York was virtually at a standstill again today—the third day of a strike of two unions for increased pay and other concessions.

There were 151 ships at loading or unloading berths, 95 of them American. The Maritime Commission said 64 were completely "tied up." The remainder, the commission added, were mostly tankers, colliers and troopships. Along with foreign flag ships, they were not affected by the strike.

The Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (C.I.O.) and the Masters, Mates and Pilots of America (A.F.L.) struck when their contracts expired at midnight September 30. Longshoremen and other waterfront workers added to inactivity by refusing to cross picket lines.

The 48-hour grace period—to permit removal of perishables from ships—expired last midnight. Companies still having such products aboard were required to obtain special permission of the strike steering committee to move anything today.

Aboard the United States Line ship American Forwarder were 232 tons of beef and pork, which officials said was in danger of spoiling. The meat was consigned to the French purchasing commission. A company spokesman said it was "awaiting developments" when asked about the disposition of the meat.

The engineers want a 35 per cent raise for its members and the Masters Union has demanded a 30 per cent pay boost.

Christianity Is Dr. Ayer's Subject Evangelistic Schedule Opens for Methodists and Baptists Here

Taking as his topic "Genuine Christianity, and the Attitude Toward It," Dr. William Ward Ayer, pastor of the century old Calvary Baptist Church, New York city, Wednesday evening spoke to a congregation which practically filled the auditorium of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church in the opening service of an 11-day evangelistic schedule which is being held under the auspices of the First Baptist Church and the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church of this city.

Services will again be held at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church tonight, Friday and Sunday evenings at 7:30 and next week the services will be continued at the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue.

At the services Wednesday evening the evangelistic hymn singing was led by Vernon S. Miller, who will again lead the singing this evening.

The Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of the Clinton Avenue church, presided at the services and the Rev. Edward Winder, of the First Baptist Church also participated in the services. Present were ministers from near-by churches including Woodstock, Catskill and outlying parishes. An invitation is extended to all ministers to attend these services and the public is invited.

There was a program of music by the combined choirs of the First Baptist and Clinton Avenue Methodist Churches and members of other choirs in this locality are invited to join with the choir.

The prayer was by Dr. Gordon H. Schroeder, B.D., director of evangelism of the Baptist State Missionary Convention, Syracuse.

The Rev. Mr. Ayer in opening his preaching mission in Kingston pointed out that true Christianity has been found in many countries, but in general it is now being taken for granted and at this time needs defining. He said it was now a sort of expression of everything in general and considering nothing in particular. He said it was important and there was great need for both church and clergy to get back and argue the meaning of Christ Crucified, a message which all but turned the pagan Roman empire upside down within a generation. The gospel, Dr. Ayer said, has not lost any of its power and can do just as much now for the soul as it did in the early centuries. Unless this great power is perpetuated there is nothing to save us from destruction in this "atomic" era.

Again this evening Dr. Ayer will present the message, selecting as his topic for the lesson, "Who Is Jesus Christ?"

Dr. Ayer will speak to members of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs next week and on Friday morning will speak at the morning devotion service from Clinton Avenue at 9:30 o'clock.

Military Training Plan in for Hot Time in Congress

By CLAIR JOHNSON

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—Rough going in Congress for the army's revised universal military training plan is predicted today by key legislators.

Most of the few lawmakers in Washington shied away from open comment on the controversial issue—just as they usually have in the past.

But nearly all those who would discuss it, friends and foes alike—agreed that many a hot debate would break out over the problem once Congress resumes business next January.

The controversy was reopened yesterday when Secretary of War Patterson outlined the revised training plan to the American Legion convention at San Francisco.

His proposal, in general, called for a year's training for all physically fit youth between the ages of 18 and 20, with six months of it in military camps and the remainder available in seven alternatives.

Trainees to have civilian, rather than military status, thus being under a special code of conduct and responsible to a civilian organization such as the present Selective Service system.

The Legion promptly issued a headquarters statement declaring it believed a mandatory four month period in camps was adequate, with the balance of the year spent in alternative training procedure.

Such a program previously has been urged by the Legion.

Rep. Brooks (D-La.) of the House military committee told a reporter he agrees with the Legion but he said the broad training choices of the army plan and the civilian status proposal are particularly worthy of praise.

Brooks added that although he favors adoption of some such program, "it will be tough to get through Congress, because although our people favor preparedness they dislike making the necessary sacrifices in peacetime."

Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) said he believes the entire issue would be one of the chief disputes to express his viewpoint at this time.

The House military committee postponed a decision on the problem last year, voting to wait until the new Congress convenes.

Meat Shortage Hits Blacketeers. O.P.A. Chief Says

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—The meat shortage has hit the black market, too.

That's the word from Irving M. Gruber, chief of O.P.A.'s meat price enforcement staff.

Gruber told a reporter today that his 2,500 agents not only stamped out virtually all illicit traffic in meat during the first month of resumed price control but—

"They are literally keeping a 24-hour watch on all big stocks of meat to see that if they move, they move under ceiling prices."

On another sector of the scarcity front, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said current hog ceilings are not and will not be "particularly favorable" for greater output.

Gruber took note of published reports that eastern order buyers are active at western livestock markets.

"That meat," he declared, "is not for the black market."

He said there are thousands of small packers, most of them in the east, who do not have their own buyers and hence rely on the order men.

These buyers have been going farther west to make their purchases, Gruber said, "but we are following every one of these movements across the country. We are checking every phase from sales at country places clear down to the consumers."

The enforcement chief said his men have no authority to force any current stocks of meat into retail outlets.

"All we can do," he added, "is see that it moves under ceilings if it moves at all."

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicted that civilian supplies of food fats and oils for the 12-month period ending next September 30 will be slightly larger than during the past 12 months despite prospects of smaller supplies of lard, but moderately below the pre-war and considerably below demand.

It said the supply situation is expected to be improved by increases in imports of vegetable oils and by a decrease in exports from this country.

Woodstock, Oct. 3 — Mr. and Mrs. John McClellan left today for New York city, expecting to return Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bell moved back into their own home October 1.

The old Finch house on the Rock City road, recently purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Osterlander, is undergoing remarkable transformation, under the supervision of Dayton Shultis, local contractor.

With the coming of fall, there soon should be news of the Woodstock Youth Center and their program for the winter. This organization, with the continued young people's interest in it, has certainly proved a worthwhile endeavor during the past two years in Woodstock. With the return of so many service men to help the kids out, this year, should come a more expansive and varied program of activities than ever before.

Signs Will Warn Motorists of Bus Law

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—The State Traffic Commission announced today it had ordered erection of signs on state highways to inform motorists of the new law concerning halted school buses.

In addition, Motor Vehicle Commissioner C. J. Fletcher announced he had asked county officials to consider installing similar signs on county roads and to urge town road superintendents to do likewise.

The new law requires vehicles meeting or overtaking a school bus stopped to receive or discharge passengers to make a full stop and remain motionless until the bus resumes or until the bus driver signals that the vehicle may proceed.

The signs being installed on state highways read: "Unlawful to pass stopped school bus from either direction."

County Skeeet Championship Shoot Is Scheduled for Sunday

Al Montavani Is Defending Champ; Trap Also Slated

First Meet Since 1942 Is Planned for Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club Grounds

The first Ulster County Federation skeet championship shoot since 1942 will be held at the new Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club grounds on the Neighborhood road Sunday starting at 10:30 o'clock. The meet will probably last until about 5 o'clock in the evening.

Efforts are being made to make this a big affair, Les Hotelling said this morning, "and we expect to have a big field of individual competitors battling for first place honors."

Al Montavani, defending champion from the 1942 competition, heads an all-star list of skeet sportsmen who will represent the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club in Sunday's affair. The tentative list of other marksmen who are expected to compete in the meet are Joe Zech, Ed Benoit, Chet Joy, Gordon Boice, Dan Hurley, Frank Zell, "Bub" Marriehew, Frank Koening and Merrill Peck. Many others are expected to enter competition from all over the county.

Montavani got in his final pre-tournament practice last Sunday afternoon when he blasted 48 out of 50 targets. Other scores were turned in by George Deyo who posted 96 out of 100, Ed Benoit 83-100, Gordon Boice, 38-50, Chet Joy 21-25, Dan Hurley 79-100 and Bob Martin 42-50.

In addition to Sunday's skeet championship shoot for all county sportsmen, officials of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club have planned a field day on trap. Prizes also will be awarded to the best shooters.

Trap Meet Slated

The second big meet at the new club grounds on the Neighborhood road is slated for next Sunday, October 13, when the Ulster County Federation Trap Shoot will be held starting at 10 o'clock in the morning. There will be no skeet activities during that day's program.

Secretary Hotelling also stated this morning that the Lake Katrine sportsmen's organization had reached its goal of 300 members and that the membership drive had ended. All members who have not yet received their membership cards and buttons are requested to contact Mr. Hotelling at his home, 20 Harwich street, or at the next meeting of the club which will be held sometime next week.

Speaking on behalf of the entire organization Secretary Hotelling also expressed his thanks

4. In the picture at the left, our player's downswing is under way. The downswing is started by a coordinated movement in which the dropping of the raised left heel starts the hips rotating toward the hole at the same time that your straight left arm starts the pull-down from the top. That is perhaps the ideal way to start the downswing for most players but if you have a tendency to be late with the clubhead at impact, then you would do well to think of this action as starting with the down-pull of the hands guided by the straight left arm. And above all, remember that there should be an almost imperceptible pause at the top of the backswing; but definitely a pause. And as you swing down, the weight transfers to the left leg, as shown in the picture, from the right and the left shoulder starts rotating upward, so that at impact your left arm and club shaft form a straight line to the ball as pictured. Notice that the player's weight at impact is forward and that is the place all good players keep their weight, for it provides the leverage to enable you to hit down to the ball. And, as a parting thought, be firm with that left hand at the top of the backswing. Don't let those fingers open.

Series Will End

Boston, Oct. 3 (AP)—All even at one victory apiece the American League Champion Red Sox and the All Stars from that same loop will wind up their three game series today with Joe Dolson listed to start for the Hose and Lefty Hall Newhouse for the Stars. The All Stars won yesterday, 4-2. Ted Williams won't play today but his banged elbow is improved and the club doctor says Ted will be in good shape for the World Series.

Back in Series

Montreal, Oct. 3 (AP)—Jacobs Robinson, the International League batting champion, had the Montreal Royals back in the Little World Series today. Louisville, the American Association champion, had the edge, two games to one in the best-out-of-seven series when the Negro star went to work last night and gave the Royals a 6-5 victory in 10 innings. A crowd of 14,658 waved fringed winter to watch the action.

Series Opener Is Set for October 6

First Game Will Be Played in National Park; It's Sox vs. Somebody

Cincinnati, Oct. 3 (AP)—The opening game of the World Series, delayed by the photo finish of St. Louis and Brooklyn in the National League, today was set for Sunday, October 6, in the park of the National League pennant winner.

This was announced yesterday by the office of Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Dodgers Have Hit Yule-Time Pace; It's Rickey Again

Brooklyn, Oct. 3 (AP)—It isn't Christmas yet but the spirit of giving is rampant in the Dodger household.

Less than two weeks ago, Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn ball club, surprised his players by awarding certificates for new cars to each player who was voted a full share of the World Series prize.

The players in a turnabout measure chipped in and bought a cabin cruiser which they presented Rickey in a surprise ceremony.

Yesterday Rickey announced the club was awarding the Dodgers' share of receipts for the playoff game or games here against St. Louis to about 50 full-time members of the organization other than executives and players.

Rickey said it was a "bonus" to organizational employees—scouts, officials of the minor league farms, clerical help and others—for the faithful performance of extraordinary duties during the past year.

The melon to be divided will amount to about $17,000 for a single game and double that sum if another game is played tomorrow.

At the same time Rickey declared that the players would be paid at their regular salary scale up until the day before the World Series starts. This arrangement would prevail even if the playoffs are postponed by rain and the big show does not get under way until after Sunday, the scheduled starting date.

The Brooklyn boss also told the office staff of 25 to take the day off and presented them with tickets for the game.

Richest Chase Today

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Grand National Steeplechase, America's richest prize for the jumping horses, has its 46th running at Belmont Park today over the course of "about" three miles.

Eleven horses, including three sets of couplings, have been entered and if all answer the bugle, the race will have a gross value of $30,750. Mrs. Esther duPont Weir's Burma Road with 152 pounds heads the list. Burma Road won this race in 1944 with a mere 136, went into partial eclipse and then came back to win the "about" two miles and a half Brook Steeplechase at Belmont last week totling 156.

Fire Forecast

A national fire loss of $590,000, for 1946, an all-time record and an increase of 22 per cent over 1945, is forecast by the National Fire Protection Association.

Hogan and Nelson Head Tourney Field

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 3 (AP)—Ben Hogan, seeking his thirteenth tournament championship of the year along the P.G.A. golfing trail, and Byron Nelson, making his first appearance with the touring pros in six weeks, headed a field of 90 that moved out today in the first round of the $10,000 Fortworth Open.

Except for Sammy Sneed, the Lacombe Virginian all the major champions were in there swinging Sneed, British Open King, withdrew from the tournament yesterday. Willard White, chairman of the tournament committee, said a request from Gerry Moore, P.G.A. traveling secretary, for $250 "appearance money" and hotel bills for Sneed; Hogan, the P.G.A. champion, and Lloyd Mangrum, National Open titlist, had been declined by the committee since no such stipulations were made in the contract with the P.G.A.

Par took a hammering in practice rounds yesterday but Hogan suffering from a cold, didn't play the course and Nelson, shooting 18 holes, said he "wasn't hitting them very good." Jimmy Demaret, the Houston pro fired a record 65, eight under par for Glen Gardens' 6,330-yard course.

Interest in Fistic Bill Presages Another Jammed Arena; Starts 9 P. M.

This is fight night again in Kingston at the municipal auditorium where B'nai B'rith presents another card of seven amateur bouts starting at 9 p. m. Interest in tonight's bill of scraps indicates another jammed arena.

Tonight's headliner for the main five-round fight brings together one of our most popular boxers ever to appear here, Tony Burrone of Schenectady, who is matched with Buddy Matthews, the New York knockout puncher. Ring experts and fans alike, after watching Matthews kayo Tony Genovese, Boston, on the card two weeks ago, agree that the Gotham beller is the one man who has the punch to give Burrone a rough time of it.

Burrone's last appearance in the local ring found him registering a quick knockout over Joey Frasca of Rome. A hand injury has kept

Better Bowling
By BILLY SIXTY

Sound footwork is the foundation of consistent good bowling and footwork begins with the proper stance, or the position taken preparatory to the stride (run) to the foul line.

Footwork is measured in three steps, four, five or even more, and how many steps to take naturally depends on the height and build of the individual.

Physique is a factor also. A short, stocky, strong person, for instance, may find it easiest to co-ordinate his stride and swing with only three steps. A person who is also short, but slim and not strong, would naturally take more steps to get a longer swing for desired speed and control.

How many steps to take can be determined only through practice, but in any case the stance (starting position) must always be at the same point since the number of steps best suited for sound footwork has been decided.

The slightest difference in the stance, as to distance from the foul line, will effect a variation in footwork and delivery.

Autumn League to Start
Tuesday, October 8;
Schafer Sees Big
Interest in Loop

The Y.M.C.A. Basketball League will open its fall conditioning schedule with a triple-header next Tuesday night, October 8, with the first game slated to start at 7 o'clock. Lou Schafer, physical director, announced this morning. The opening night schedule is as follows:

October 8—7 P. M.
Marines vs. Hustlers.

8 P. M.
Barnes Five vs. Swamp Lilies.

9 P. M.
V.F.W. vs. Shamrocks.

Two days later, October 10, the Madden Aces are slated to engage the Potter Brothers Five in a game starting at 7 o'clock on the "Y" boards.

In announcing the opening schedule Lou Schafer said today: "There were six different teams on the Y.M.C.A. gym Tuesday night and they all looked fine. A lot of last year's basketball players were on hand in addition to many new faces which we are glad to welcome. A lot of boys are back from service too which indicates that we're in for a big basketball season."

The decision to open the autumn league early was reached recently so that the regular winter basketball circuit could get under way by December 1.

The early start also will allow Mr. Schafer additional time to select the best players from the league to play on his Y.M.C.A. varsity five. "We're planning on a big year," Schafer said today "and we'll compete in games up and down the Hudson Valley. For this reason I'm determined to choose the top-notch players. After I've selected the 'Y' varsity I'll order new uniforms for the club."

OXYGEN GO-CART FOR FOOTBALL PLAYERS

Members of the Georgetown University football team try out a new gadget in Washington—an oxygen dispensing go-cart aimed at pepping up weary players. The team plans to use it Oct. 4 in the game with Wake Forest. Clockwise from left: Joe Dielo, quarterback, of Elizabeth, N. J.; Paul Blaine, quarterback, Washington; Walter O'Connell, quarterback, Brooklyn; Jack O'Connor, halfback, Philadelphia; Bill Resch, end, Philadelphia; John Murphy, guard, N.Y.C.; John Berger, tackle, Peabody, Mass.; Dick Smyka, guard, Irvington, N. J.; F. Desmond, end, Chester, Pa.; C. O'Doherty, fullback, Woburn, Mass.; and Lou Miller, halfback, Catonsville, Md. (AP Wirephoto)

KHS '11' History

IRWIN J. THOMAS

This is the twelfth in a series of articles presenting an over-all summary of past records made by Kingston High School football teams from 1935 to the present.

After the second DUSO championship team of 1936, the Kias coached Maroon and White grid-der slipped below the 500 grade during 1937, 1938 and 1939, the closing days of G. Warren Kias as gridiron mentor of the local Broadway school.

The team of 1937, built around such sturdy holdovers from the '36 squad as Ray Schneider, Jimmy Ashdown, Tommy Maines, Jack Halstein and Bill Meagher, wound up the campaign with a total of three victories in seven starts and scored 56 points while their opponents collected 84.

Norwich gave Kingston its first shellacking in 1937 by 24 to 0 in the curtain-raiser. Then the Maroons evened their record for the season in the second tilt by downing Oneonta, 6-0, when Tommy Maines scored the only touchdown on a 10-yard run after taking a short pass from Bill Meagher. Maines proved to be the bulwark for Kingston in the third game with Poughkeepsie when he spearheaded the Maroons to a 19-0 verdict. Two sensational dashes of 70 and 75 yards by Maines featured the ball game. Vince Stoll went over for the other tally.

Middies Halt Locals
Paced by Ray Dodd, George Schmick and Ira Cummings, Middletown High breezed into the Fair Grounds Saturday, October 23, 1937, and promptly applied the skids to Kingston's two-game winning skin. Middletown won the game with ease by 20-6. It was the second straight season that Mr. Dodd and company spoiled an otherwise enjoyable afternoon for the Kiasmen.

Port Jervis added further coals to the fire two weeks later by blasting out an identical 20 to 6 triumph over Kingston's demoralized grid-ers. After those two consecutive lacerations, the Maroon moleskinners rallied to trip Highland High, 13-0, in the first meeting of these two Ulster county schools. A short pass from Meagher to Maines registered the first score. Late in the final stanza Kingston hit pay dirt again for its final when Ray Schneider, on a double reverse from Meagher to Jack Halstein, dashed over Highland's chalklines.

The curtain was brought down on a dismal season Thanksgiving Day when Newburgh, wallpopped Kingston, 20-6, the locals' third straight DUSO loss by that score. Coach G. Warren Kias' 1937 squad included Joe Clark, Art Christman, Joe Garland, Irv Rose, Bill Powers, Gene Wren, Dick Decker, Carl Studer, Ed Friedman, Bill Von Essen, Ray Schneider, Jimmy Ashdown, Vince Stoll, Jack Halstein, Bill Meagher, Jack Cook, Ken Douglas, Jay DeWitt, Bill Cole, Lane, Terwilliger, Lawson and Leahy.

Teacher Was Right,
It Did Blow Up

Cedar Springs, Mich., Oct. 3 (AP)—"Watch out now. This may blow us all sky high."

These words from Mrs. Fred Weaver preceded a test tube oxygen-producing demonstration before her junior high school class yesterday.

She shook the tube. An explosion followed, injuring Mrs. Weaver and all 28 pupils. Two of the students required hospital treatment for eye injuries.

Mrs. Weaver, who suffered burns and lacerations, explained the experiment was to make pure oxygen and included mixing amounts of potassium chlorate and magnesium dioxide.

"I guess I got the wrong mixture," she said.

Kingston Has White
Frost During Night

A heavy white frost and temperatures ranging in the 30's marked last night in Kingston. As the official city thermometer at the city hall was registering a low of 35 degrees, thermometers in other sections of the city were recording even lower readings.

The 38 degree reading of the official thermometer was also the lowest point reached by that thermometer this month.

The highest temperature recorded yesterday by the official thermometer was 52 degrees.

Dogs Wear Booties

Sheep dogs in the "burr and gibber country" of Southwest Queensland, Australia, now are often equipped with basil leather booties, enabling them to stand up to the day's work in the toughest of terrain. Brisbane reports. The dogs like the protection and line up regularly for sewing before the day's work.

State Registration Begins Tomorrow

Only Exceptions Will Be in New York, Westchester

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—Personal registration for the statewide election November 5 will begin tomorrow throughout the state, except in New York city and Westchester county.

Polling places will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. tomorrow, Saturday and next Friday, October 11. On the final day, October 12, they will be open from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

In New York city and Westchester county personal registration will take place from 5 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. on October 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 and from 7 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. on October 12, the final day.

Non-personal registration, outside of cities and villages of more than 5,000 inhabitants, will take place Saturday, October 5, from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., and Saturday, October 12, from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Service Personnel May Wear 'Civvies' Off Duty

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—Acting jointly, the army and navy yesterday authorized all armed service personnel in the Western Hemisphere and in U. S. possessions to wear civilian clothes when off duty.

Navy and marine officers and enlisted men were given the privilege "on shore in the Western Hemisphere, including Greenland, and overseas possessions of the United States."

The announcement from the two departments, however, emphasized that only uniformed personnel will get furlough rates on railroads and said that local commanders may suspend the "civvies" privilege "if local conditions make it advisable."

Wacs, Waves and army-navy nurses have been permitted to wear civilian clothes when off duty since last month.

Steelman Says
Signals Crossed
On Meat Problem

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—The administration apparently got its signals crossed today on when the meat shortage will ease. Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, in his quarterly report to President Truman and Congress, says this: "We are plagued with shortages of some types of food, and for some items the shortages will become worse this winter. This is especially true of meat."

views, an official of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion told a reporter "there doesn't seem to be any real conflict" in the two statements.

The official said Mr. Truman had "hedged" his forecast by saying, for example, that a bigger meat supply is dependent on how many cattle move to feed lots this fall. But Steelman did not qualify his statement, the reporter noted. He said flatly that the meat shortage "will become worse this winter."

"Well," the O.W.M.R. official agreed, "I guess that's right. It isn't qualified."

He said that while released today, Steelman's statement had been prepared before the President expressed his views on the meat scarcity. He added that he didn't know why the Steelman statement had not been revised.

Steelman Fears

refrigerators and washing machines. It is just beginning to hit its stride, but "there is some indication that the bloom is off" the market for clothes and other soft goods. The "buy-at-any-price" psychology is "being tempered by some consumer resistance to high prices and poor quality."

If consumer or business spending now at "extremely high" levels should falter, the government "must be prepared to promote an increase in consumption." Public works programs should be "broadly printed and ready to go," and tax and other fiscal policy "would require... readjustment."

To arrest such a decline in spending, "the first and most salutary action could be taken by business itself in reducing prices—wherever possible—without reducing wages."

Due to the "weakening" of price and other stabilization controls "we find ourselves at the present time gravely handicapped in our fight against inflation through lack of adequate governmental machinery to cope with it."

Although wage rates and straight time hourly earnings have increased since the European war ended, "gross weekly earnings of all employees in manufacturing industries have decreased... by approximately $5 per cent." This means that the average manufacturing worker "earning $47.12 in April, 1945, was taking home in July, 1946, $45.05 per week less $2.07."

Taking a different stand than President Truman, Steelman said the shortage of meat "will become worse this winter." The President said last week that supply will improve soon, but that despite "the outlook for temporary relief in the next few months, it is hard to predict what may happen in the spring."

Clothing supply is "rapidly increasing, but still not fast enough to satisfy the demand for such items as men's shirts and suits." Moreover, there is "danger that prices of cotton cloth and apparel may get out of reach of the average consumer."

By June, Steelman reported, clothing costs were 23 per cent above those of May, 1945. O.P.A., he added, expects a further increase of at least 10 per cent during the latter half of this year.

The housing shortage is "so acute" that even if this year's program were to succeed (it's behind schedule), "there still will be as many people in need of housing at the beginning of 1947 as there were on January 1, 1946."

Greatest in History
The number of persons with jobs at present—58,000,000—is "the greatest in history." The "number of people looking for jobs... is the smallest percentage of our peace-time labor force out of jobs."

at any time since we became an industrial nation."
... But the number of veterans unemployed "remains stubbornly at a level of about 900,000, or nearly half the total number of unemployed in the country today."

Production "can well rise above current levels before general manpower shortages begin to curb output." Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small said last week the only way to achieve any further substantial increase in the flow of consumer goods would be through a longer work-week. Declaring that "stabilization has now become everybody's business," Steelman added that "unless each group can subordinate its own short-time selfish interests to the long-time interests of us all, it is problematical how successful the government itself can be."

Esopus Democratic Club Meets October 4

A regular meeting of the Democratic Club of the Town of Esopus will be held Friday evening, October 4, at 8 o'clock in the town hall at Rifton.

At that time the organization will discuss further the plans for the card party planned on October 25 at the Penguin in Port Jervis. Earle Terwilliger and Mrs. Winifred Nelson, co-chairmen of the card party, request that all members attend this meeting in order to complete plans for the affair. All residents of the town of Esopus are invited to attend the meeting and enjoy the social time that follows. Refreshments will be served.

Kiff, Scully Enlist In the Regular Army

First Sergeant Moir L. Venable of the local Army Recruiting Office, Central Post Office building, announces that two Kingston High School graduates, class of June 1946, have been accepted for service in the regular army for a period of 18 months. Ralph J. Kiff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Kiff, 398 Foxhall avenue and John J. Scully, son of Mrs. Anna E. Scully, 143 Jansen avenue.

Both of these young men told Sergeant Venable that suitable employment was scarce, that they wanted to learn a trade while in the service and be eligible for a government paid education at any school of their choice after discharge. Education is part of every man's dream in life, remarked the sergeant, and the post-war world will demand greater and more thorough knowledge of the young men who wish to get ahead. Every year hundreds of thousands of intelligent young Americans finish high school and are faced with the fact they cannot afford to go on to college or business school. But today they can—by enlisting in the new regular army. Men enlisting on or before October 5 will be guaranteed the benefits of the G. I. Bill for the entire term of enlistment. On and after Sunday, October 6, men enlisting will be guaranteed the benefits of the bill only for that portion of their enlistment covered by the duration of the emergency plus six months.

PAY AS YOU RIDE
A small down payment and 8 monthly payments buys auto insurance, if you want credit. You need insurance to avoid trouble and possible loss of your driver's license.
For $5.00 you can buy $1,100 fire insurance on furniture in a dwelling in Kingston for 3 years. The policy also covers up to $110 in any place outside the home.
What if someone falls on your sidewalk or is injured on your premises? $5 a year insures a private home against such claims.
Plate glass insurance does not cost much. Ask for an estimate.
I have a monthly payment plan which enables business men to pay insurance premiums out of income. It's a confidential, convenient insurance service.
